

ORLAND STATE BANK

News Brevities of Illinois

Rex Chappellear, thirty-three, Grisham township farmer, died at the Hillsboro hospital of burns suffered in an explosion at his home near Hillsboro. He had poured coal oil into his kitchen stove to start a fire.

The State Bank of Allerton is open for business and has been right along, but the front door is always locked. No one is permitted to enter unless identified by the cashier or his assistant. The bank has been doing business this way ever since it was held up three years ago.

Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop lost her last chance for liberty when the Illinois Supreme court refused to grant a rehearing of her conviction for murdering her daughter-in-law, Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, in the fall of 1933. The physician, now sixty-three years old, is serving a 25-year sentence in the women's penitentiary at Dwight.

David W. Stanton, sheet metal worker, won a $7,500 verdict in the Circuit court at Rock Island in a suit for alienation of affections against David Gilbert, part owner of a trucking firm. Stanton said his wife left him and their three children for Gilbert last August. Stanton had asked for $25,000. Stanton said he threw beer at Gilbert in a tavern last May. Mrs. Stanton is thirty-three years old.

Gov. Henry Horner received a delegation of more than 50 Bureau county citizens who petitioned for a relocation of state highway route 162 from Seatonville, through Dalzell, to connect with U. S. route 51 near Peru. The governor told the delegation that the petition would be referred to the state department of public works and buildings, and would be given consideration by the division of highways.

Bids for 24 highway improvement projects in various sections of Illinois were received by the state department of public works and buildings, division of highways. The letting totaled $1,282,323.64. Ernst Lieberman, chief highway engineer, said the projects called for construction of 9.78 miles of pavement, 3.61 miles of gravel or crushed stone surface course roadway, 14.04 miles of grading and 11 bridge sections.

Wholesalers, retailers and consumers have been advised for the second time by Charles F. Thompson, director of the state department of conservation, that rabbits are contraband now and must not be sold or purchased. "Many dealers, who had a large supply of rabbits on hand when the selling season closed February 5, have been selling them," Director Thompson stated, "and a second warning is issued that these sales must stop."

Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois emergency relief commission, declared that all persons who may be arrested at communist meetings or who otherwise may be found to be enemies of the government, will be promptly dropped from the relief rolls. He said he is investigating a report that relief stations were used for distribution of tickets to a gathering said to be conducted for communist propaganda. He urged enforcement of the deportation law against alien communists.

The world perhaps seems flatter than usual to Wilbur Glenn Voliva. The overlord of Zion's religious colony, who was held to the theory the world is like a pancake, contemplates the possibility of losing control of his domain after 23 years of colorful and bombastic rule. His opponents in the primary claim a total vote large enough to wrest village offices from the Voliva faction when the election is held next month. The total, they said was 400 ballots greater than the votes for Voliva-sponsored candidates.

Communities in Illinois which are seeking funds from the Federal Public Works administration have been granted an extension of time to February 20 in which to file their inventories of projects. It was learned that within a few days Governor Horner will file a list of projects for road building throughout the state, estimated to cost nearly $300,000,000. The extension was granted by C. M. Osborn, state engineer for the PWA, because many of the 6,000 communities in Illinois which applied for the blanks have not yet received them.

Anton Minikowski, seventy years old, a pensioned employee of the Chicago street department, was found beaten to death in his dingy two room flat, where he had lived as a recluse for 15 years. His hands were bound with clothesline. Neighbors who had not seen Minikowski for several days called the police. Breaking into the flat, police found evidence that the robbers bound the victim in a chair and slugged him with the hammer to make him reveal his reputed hidden money. The hammer lay beside the body. Minikowski owned the two story building in which he lived. Three years ago robbers burned his hands and feet in an effort to make him tell where his money was hidden.

The public schools of Mundelein were closed for a week to stop the spread of measles, according to an announcement. Seventy cases were reported.

Bills were offered in the Illinois general assembly which are intended to strengthen the machinery of the state in the collection of the sales tax and also to impose a tax upon chain stores. The measures were sponsored by Representative E. G. Hayne, Ottawa, and require persons engaged in the retail business to secure a license from the state. A filing fee of 50 cents is provided for. The license of chain stores is fixed at from $3 to $150 a store.

Descendants of Evangeline's Clan on Move

LIKE their ancestral Acadians, more than 150 years ago, most famed of whom was Evangeline, these trappers and their families are gathered, awaiting transportation away from the scenes of their livelihood. The circumstances, however, are quite different. Evangeline's clan was driven out of Canada by the British. The descendants of that band, pictured here were brought from their homes in southwest Louisiana to a 90,000-acre tract of marsh below New Orleans by a fur syndicate, as trappers. Only the intervention of a United States marshal and forty deputies averted a massacre when residents of the marsh, feeling themselves cheated of a livelihood, rose up in arms against the invaders and protested with weapons and fire. The 'Cajans, as they are now called, were mobilized by marshals and gladly went to their homes 200 miles distant. They are shown preparing to leave the place for the journey home.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

REDDY FOX QUARRELS FOOLISHLY

AS REDDY FOX sat glaring up at Terror the Goshawk, whose arrival from the Far North had spoiled Reddy's hunting in the Green Forest, he grew angrier and angrier. He grew so angry that presently he walked over until he was almost under Terror the Goshawk. "What right have you down here in the Green Forest?" he snarled. "The same right you have, Reddy Fox," retorted Terror.

"It's no such thing," snapped Reddy. "You haven't the same right here I have. You belong up in the Far North, while I live here all year round. Why don't you stay where you belong?"

"Huh!" Retorted Reddy Fox. "Talk is Cheap."

"Since when have you owned the Green Forest?" replied Terror. "I would have you to know, Reddy Fox, that I go where I please. I have found very good hunting here these last few days, and I think I shall stay the rest of the winter. What are you going to do about it?"

That question was too much for Reddy Fox. If Terror had been a four-legged person like himself there might have been ways to make things most uncomfortable for him. As it was, there wasn't a single thing Reddy could do, and he knew it.

"You're a great, big bully and coward," snarled Reddy. You know it is an easy matter to call people you hate bad names.

Terror merely chuckled. It was a hateful chuckle and made Reddy angrier than ever. "So I'm a coward, am I," said Terror. "Think again, Reddy; think again. It is you who are a coward, not I. I fear nothing and no one. Just to settle the question I dare you to go up to Farmer Brown's and steal a chicken from his henyard while he is about."

"That's a silly dare," snarled Reddy. "You are daring me to do something you don't dare do yourself. You know well enough you'll keep away from that henyard as long as Farmer Brown is about."

"Is that so?" snapped Terror, and the feathers on the top of his head began to rise in anger. "I never dare anybody to do what I don't dare do myself."

"Huh!" retorted Reddy Fox. "Talk is cheap." He said this with an unpleasant sneer.

Terror's fierce eyes blazed with rage. "I never boast," he declared. "I dare you to go to Farmer Brown's henyard right now and prove who is the coward."

Reddy Fox couldn't very well back out. He tried to think of an excuse, but for the life of him he couldn't. "All right," said he, "I'll take your dare."

© T. W. Burgess.—WNU Service.

QUESTION BOX

by ED WYNN, The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a girl twenty-three years old and have lived all my life in the country, and I have just made up my mind to move to the city. I am a pretty good cook and that is why I am writing to you. What I want to know is: Do many city people "keep" cooks?

Truly yours,
MARMA LADE.

Answer: They do not. But most people engage another as soon as one leaves.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

It isn't that I am opposed to a person playing cards for money, but I would like you to settle an argument between my wife and me. The question is, "Can an honest man play poker?"

Sincerely,

JACK O'DIAMONDS.
Answer: Of course he can, but he won't win.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My father says the silliest things. For instance, last night he said his bald head was just like heaven. Don't you think that is a silly thing for a man my father's age to say?

Truly yours,
VAZZLE EEN.

Answer: I would say instead of being silly your dad is rather bright. The reason your father compares a bald head to heaven is that he simply means: "There is no parting there."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I saw a man with both his hands bandaged and I asked him how it happened. He didn't answer me. I later found out the reason he didn't answer me was because he is deaf and dumb. I also heard his hands were bandaged because every joint in his fingers is broken. How do you account for an accident like that?

Sincerely,

DINAH MITE.
Answer: He is deaf and dumb, the

TO MY CHILD

By ANNE CAMPBELL

SOMETIME in years to come, when the strong sea of life is threatening, with you afraid, I hope that courage comes with thoughts of me, And you recall the hope that ever made a green place in the desert of our lives. We have made much of little and been gay. When your own disillusionment arrives, Remember love that sweetened every day.

I wish I could build love into a wall So thick and high you never would be caught: In life's swift eddies. . . . If you hear a call From a far place, it will express this thought: There was no road too difficult to take; There was no task too hard for your dear sake.

Copyright.—WNU Service.

WITTY KITTY

By NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

The girl chum says it is noticed that the guy who is so generous that he "will give you the shirt off his back" never goes so far as to perform this act of self-sacrifice in public.

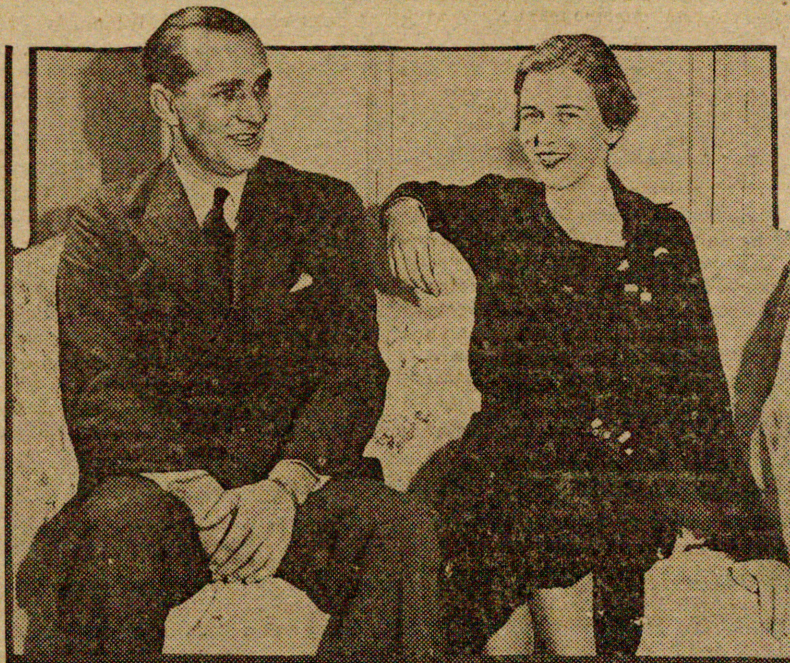

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Fascinating Tunic Dress

Striking in material and motif is this fascinating new tunic dress. The fabric is navy blue taffeta with white polka dots. The suit is closely fitted at the hip and skirt, and cut with deep raglan sleeves, which are turned back at three-quarter length to form deep cuffs. Really stunning is the wide ruching which is made of self material, cut on the bias and fringed at the edges. Three rows are used on the tunic, another row forms the Pierrot collar, and the same ruching is used on the navy blue straw hat. A blue velvet bow is caught in the neck ruff, and a velvet ribbon carelessly knotted forms the belt. Navy blue suede was selected for bag and gloves, and matching kid for the pumps.

President's Daughter and New Husband

THE former Anna Roosevelt Dall, daughter of the President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, shown, with her new husband, John Boettiger, former Chicago newspaper man, at the Roosevelt home in New York city.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE SHOULD BE LIQUID

(Ask any doctor)

For your own comfort, and for your children's safety and future welfare, you should read this:

The bowels cannot be helped to regularity by any laxative that can't be regulated as to dose. That is why doctors use liquid laxatives.

A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

The right liquid laxative dose gives the right amount of help. When repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Its action is gentle, but sure. It will clear up a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset. Every druggist has it.

Dr. Caldwell's
SYRUP PEPSIN

CREOMULSION

Your own druggist is authorized to cheerfully refund you money on the spot if you are not relieved by Creomulsion BRONCHIAL TROUBLES

WEAK AND MISERABLE?

Mrs. Lela Pinegar of 804 1/2 Main St., Danville, Ill., said: "After a serious operation I had no strength. I had an ache in the top of my head, was awfully thin and hardly any color in my face. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gave me strength, rid me of the run-down condition and the headache." New size, tablets 50 cts., liquid $1.00. Large size, tabs. or liquid, $1.35. All druggists. Write Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering impurities from the blood stream. But kidneys get functionally disturbed—lag in their work—fail to remove the poisonous body wastes.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains; feel "all worn out."

Don't delay! For the quicker you get rid of these poisons, the better your chances of good health.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They tend to promote normal functioning of the kidneys; should help them pass off the irritating poisons. Doan's are recommended by users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

DOAN'S PILLS

"INSIDE INFORMATION"

For indigestion or CONSTIPATION CLEANSE INTERNALLY the tea-cup way. Garfield Tea acts promptly, pleasantly, MILDLY. Not a cure-all, but certainly effective in relieving constipation. At drug stores—25c and 10c.

FREE SAMPLE Write to: Garfield Tea Co., Dept. 12, Brooklyn, N. Y.

GARFIELD TEA

Baby Cross and Fretful With Eczema

Relieved by Cuticura

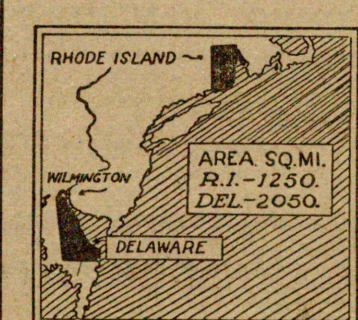

"Our baby had eczema on her forehead and on the back of her head. It started from a blister and kept spreading over her face. Her skin was irritated and red, and she kept it irritated from scratching so much. She was cross and fretful a great deal, and could not sleep well at night."

"She was affected about two months before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using them about three weeks you could not tell she ever had this condition." (Signed) Mrs. Neal Gladney, R. F. D. 1, Box 47, Brighton, Tenn. Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. One sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. R, Malden, Mass."—Adv.

WNU—A 8—35

KILL THEM TODAY RATS MICE COCKROACHES STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE YOUR DEALER NOW IN TUBES ONLY 35c

Do YOU Know—

That the city of Wilmington, Del., contains nearly half the population of that state. The population of Wilmington in 1920 was 110,168, while that of the state was 223,003. Delaware is next to the smallest state, in area, in the Union.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

THE GRACE OF GOD

By LUCIE A. O'BRIEN
© McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
WNU Service.

"Tessie, where are you going?" Mrs. Delaney peremptorily asked her daughter from the pantry doorway.

The girl clutched the door-knob to steady her trembling fingers. "Oh—just out."

"Where?" Mrs. Delaney's voice was just a trifle shrill.

"Oh, ma, I'm over twelve," replied her daughter.

"Yes," rejoined her mother, "you're twenty-one. That's why you ought to show some sense. And let me tell you once and for all, young lady, you've got to stop meeting this sneaky fellow—"

"Well, I won't," burst out the girl, passionately. "I'm old enough to take care of myself. And . . ."

"The hospitals and morgues are full of girls who thought the same thing," interrupted her mother.

"And Fremont Sawyer is a gentleman," continued the girl.

"Then preserve me from a gentleman who won't come to a girl's house and let her out of an automobile on the corner."

Teresa flushed a shamed red. The shaft had struck.

"What of it?" She braved the issue. "I suppose if his name was Sullivan or O'Toole or McCarthy he'd be wonderful."

Previous experience should have taught Teresa that she could not outscore her mother in crushing rejoinders.

"My best friends are Mrs. McGregor and Mrs. Uditky next door," said the mother, heavily; "and two finer women don't live. But, I tell you this, Tessie, oil and water don't scratch, but they don't mix, either. And when it comes to marriage—"

"Who said anything about marriage?" queried Teresa with forced jauntness.

"Well then, what's he about?" thundered Mrs. Delaney. And then the pent-up anxiety of the past months burst forth in a tempestuous torrent of scathing, bitter words.

"All right," cried Teresa, angrily. "I can look out for myself. I work . . ."

"Yes, you'll go far," sniffed Mrs. Delaney.

Every bit of Teresa's fair office salary went for clothes and gewgaws to adorn her pretty self.

"Now, see here, Tessie—"

"Tessie! Can't you call me Teresa?"

"Very well, Teresa. But you don't stir out of this house to meet that road snake. There are plenty of amusements right here in town without needing to cross over to reach God-forsaken places—and I mean it. I'm going to settle this affair, once and for all."

"I don't wonder that girls leave home!" raged Teresa.

"Aw, say, Tess, cut the rough stuff," interjected a husky, boyish voice.

A coppery-haired lad of fifteen sauntered into the room.

Passing his mother, he put a grimy hand on her shoulder and said, "Want to go see Wallace Beery, ma? You know he always hands you a laugh."

His boyish subterfuge was so transparent that Mrs. Delaney suddenly bowed her head. Strangled sobs escaped her.

Teresa and Charlie stood aghast.

Mrs. Delaney was not a person given to surface emotions.

Teresa's heart pounded painfully.

She wanted to fling her young arms around her mother and say, "Ma, don't cry like that. Honestly, I love you."

Unfortunately, members of families are shy at expressing affection for one another.

Yet the tense situation might have cleared somehow had not Charlie dispelled that golden chance by his ensuing indignant words:

"You certainly are a flat tire—and so's that ham-and-egger you travel with."

Teresa wrenched the door open.

"Maybe you'll be glad if we travel so far that I'll never come back."

Mrs. Delaney rose, her usual poise fully restored.

"Go, Teresa," she directed, gravely; "and may the grace of God be with you."

Teresa, awe-stricken and shivering, ran down the gloomy stairway.

Once on the sidewalk, in the golden sunshine, her rankling thoughts cleared magically.

She looked at her enameled wrist-watch—her mother's gift to her on her twenty-first birthday. Mrs. Delaney wore Teresa's discarded one.

Teresa hesitated. . . . But a vision of a tall young man floated before her.

A young man of mysterious eyes, mysterious charms, mysterious enterprises, who, by his own account, could have any girl in town.

Teresa moved forward briskly.

She had intended walking to the ferry-landing this gorgeous day. But the wordy encounter with her mother having delayed her, she was obliged to board a trolley and transfer to a ferry tram. She reached the slip just as the ferry boat was edging away.

She saw the widening expanse of bottle-green water churning soopily in the wake of the heavily-laden ferry boat, "Kismet."

Her eyes, smarting with scalding tears, she retraced her steps, her heart heavy.

She knew Fremy well enough to realize that he would not wait for the next boat—an hour hence.

She remembered his oft-quoted declaration that there were too many lively fish in any old pond to await the coming of a slow one.

The gold and blue day suddenly became drab and dull.

Infatuation and inexperience blinded Teresa to the fact that Fremy Sawyer's every action indicated the cheap poseur, eager for praise and admiration. She had, so far, refused to let Fremy park along dark roadsides but she sensed that she could not put him off much longer.

Disappointment, anger, and the underlying gnawing remembrance of her mother's hurt, all combined to make her head whirl.

Distraught, she stepped back.

She was conscious of shouts, of grinding noises.

She felt a violent impact.

There followed the quiet of the tomb.

Teresa raised her heavy eyelids.

Through a haze she saw her mother and Charlie.

A white-robed person eased her pillow.

Teresa was conscious of a sickly sweetish odor. A leaden weight held her down.

"Ma," she whispered, "what happened?"

"Just a minor accident, my dear," crisply answered the efficient, uniformed personage at her bedside.

"You were struck a glancing blow by a machine. Nothing serious."

She frowned warningly at the visitors as she bustled out of the sickroom.

Charlie gaped after her retreating figure.

Struck and thrown by a truck, his sister had miraculously escaped death; but the fractures and contusions she had sustained would confine her to the hospital for some time.

"Twas the grace of God," said Mrs. Delaney, softly.

Charlie grinned. That was ma. "It might have been worse, etc., etc."

"Ma—" Teresa struggled with the stubborn words—"I'm sorry—I didn't mean—"

"When you get out of the hospital, we'll most likely get a car," replied her mother, her eyes clear, although there was a stinging in her nose and a prickling in her throat.

"Ma, I meant to go. I missed the ferry."

"Twas the grace of God!" intoned Mrs. Delaney.

The light of understanding flooded Charlie's young mind. He suddenly remembered his mother's parting words to Teresa. And the grace of God sure had been with his sister.

"Tess, what do you think? A state cop spotted Fremy Sawyer going sixty—with his arm around a girl!" Mrs. Delaney tried vainly to catch her son's eye, to warn him into silence. "The cop chased him—Fremy's car skidded around a curve and went plumb over the bank down to the shore."

Teresa closed her eyes to shut out the frightful picture of the speeding machine breaching through the guard rail and hurtling down the steep embankment to the sea-swept beach below.

"Twas the grace of God," droned Mrs. Delaney as she adjusted the white coverlet.

And in their young hearts, Teresa and Charlie thanked voiced: "Amen."

laration that there were too many lively fish in any old pond to await the coming of a slow one.

The gold and blue day suddenly became drab and dull.

Infatuation and inexperience blinded Teresa to the fact that Fremy Sawyer's every action indicated the cheap poseur, eager for praise and admiration.

She had, so far, refused to let Fremy park along dark roadsides but she sensed that she could not put him off much longer.

Disappointment, anger, and the underlying gnawing remembrance of her mother's hurt, all combined to make her head whirl.

Distraught, she stepped back.

She was conscious of shouts, of grinding noises.

She felt a violent impact.

There followed the quiet of the tomb.

Teresa raised her heavy eyelids.

Through a haze she saw her mother and Charlie.

A white-robed person eased her pillow.

Teresa was conscious of a sickly sweetish odor. A leaden weight held her down.

"Ma," she whispered, "what happened?"

"Just a minor accident, my dear," crisply answered the efficient, uniformed personage at her bedside.

"You were struck a glancing blow by a machine. Nothing serious."

She frowned warningly at the visitors as she bustled out of the sickroom.

Charlie gaped after her retreating figure.

Struck and thrown by a truck, his sister had miraculously escaped death; but the fractures and contusions she had sustained would confine her to the hospital for some time.

"Twas the grace of God," said Mrs. Delaney, softly.

Charlie grinned. That was ma. "It might have been worse, etc., etc."

"Ma—" Teresa struggled with the stubborn words—"I'm sorry—I didn't mean—"

"When you get out of the hospital, we'll most likely get a car," replied her mother, her eyes clear, although there was a stinging in her nose and a prickling in her throat.

"Ma, I meant to go. I missed the ferry."

"Twas the grace of God!" intoned Mrs. Delaney.

The light of understanding flooded Charlie's young mind. He suddenly remembered his mother's parting words to Teresa. And the grace of God sure had been with his sister.

"Tess, what do you think? A state cop spotted Fremy Sawyer going sixty—with his arm around a girl!" Mrs. Delaney tried vainly to catch her son's eye, to warn him into silence. "The cop chased him—Fremy's car skidded around a curve and went plumb over the bank down to the shore."

Teresa closed her eyes to shut out the frightful picture of the speeding machine breaching through the guard rail and hurtling down the steep embankment to the sea-swept beach below.

"Twas the grace of God," droned Mrs. Delaney as she adjusted the white coverlet.

And in their young hearts, Teresa and Charlie thanked voiced: "Amen."

Mormon Cricket Promises

Another Bothersome Year

One of the pests of the early settlers, particularly the settlers of the northern Rocky mountain region, has come back once more to add to the many trials of the wheat and other cereal growers, says the Washington Star. This particular pest, the Mormon cricket, was so named because of the fact that the Mormon settlers were the first to really suffer from their voracious appetites for grain.

Singularly, the crickets originate in the mountain areas, particularly on uncultivated land where the eggs are laid and the young hatch by the myriad.

The campaign of eradication begun recently is based largely on a drive to kill the young when they first hatch and before they have an opportunity to migrate to the wheat fields.

The most effective way to prevent damage by the Mormon cricket, Dr. P. N. Annand of the bureau of entomology explains, is to kill the bands of young crickets in the wild lands where they hatch out by dusting them with a mixture of powdered calcium arsenite and hydrated lime. If their migration is not stopped in time, he continues, the only way to save cultivated crops in their path will be to erect barriers of corrugated tin roofing or galvanized sheet iron. These barriers, although effective in halting the advance and in killing individual insects, are expensive and difficult to handle.

Degree of Murder

In Pennsylvania and in New Jersey there are two degrees of murder. Both degrees are distinguished from manslaughter by reason of the presence of a mental state called malice. In first degree murder this malice is relatively more serious than in second degree in that there is a specific intent to kill or the death is caused while some heinous offense like robbery, rape, arson, kidnapping, or burglary is being committed. In both states, first degree murder is punishable by death or life imprisonment, in the discretion of the jury. For second degree murder the maximum sentence in Pennsylvania is 20 years; in New Jersey, 30 years—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Japan Badly Crowded

Japan is in the situation of having a population about half that of the United States crowded into an area the size of California.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted

by William Bruckart

National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Third Party Rumblings

Washington.—Certain signs of transition are appearing in the political picture. They are becoming clear enough to deserve attention. What they may mean in the ultimate can be made only the subject of a guess—politics being what they are—but interesting circumstances can be noted as of this day and time.

Third party rumblings are beginning to be heard along the whole political front. This is noteworthy because third party rumblings usually are confined to a few sectors, some important, some unimportant. The insurgents, radicals, progressives, and independents all seem to be examining the political horizons of 1936. Roughly, those factions enumerated have been classified as the "sons of the wild jackass," an appellation given them by George H. Moses of New Hampshire, when he was filling a Republican seat in the United States senate. The fact that they remain and that Mr. Moses has passed out of the political picture is not the point. It was his description of them that gave the country its first grouping of the political factions that have consistently kicked over the traces of the major political parties.

The fact that these various groups are again examining the potentialities and the possibilities of 1936 brings directly into question the progress made by the New Deal in its program of reformation or revolution, depending on the political perspective from which you consider the New Deal.

It is two years since President Roosevelt carried his New Deal into the White House. Much water has gone over the dam since. Many experiments have been tried and many have failed. Doubtless considerable progress of a satisfactory form has resulted. Yet, the "sons of the wild jackass" are not satisfied. It may be because Mr. Roosevelt has ceased to pull so many white rabbits out of a hat after the fashion of a magician, that has caused unaffiliated factions so much disturbance. Or it may be because the Republicans, as the opposition party at present, have been utterly stymied in their efforts to perform opposition functions that have proved the temptation for the so-called left wingers to capitalize whatever political opportunities remain for exploitation.

I think it is the general conclusion that the New Deal has not come up to expectations of the left wingers. Perhaps, it might be said that nothing that the New Dealers can offer will be quite satisfactory to the left wingers, for they are difficult to satisfy. Their fertile minds are even more productive of experimental ideas than are the minds even of the brain trusters, and no one has ever said a brain trust mind was not fertile. At any rate, the circumstance is cut and dried and an abundance of material for a third party awaits us by that type of politician.

Observers here agree that one cannot consider the outlook for 1936, and the national elections of that time, without considering the influence that these left wingers may wield. I believe it is conceded everywhere that if Mr. Roosevelt succeeds in leading the country through to a higher level of prosperity than now graces our fortunes the Republican chances to defeat him are very, very low. If, on the other hand, conditions continue as they now are, Mr. Roosevelt certainly is going to have to battle this progressive set-up—to adopt one label for all of them—as well as the conservative group centering largely in the Republicans. From this it becomes plain that a third party probably would draw away from Mr. Roosevelt all of those radicals and liberals who would go beyond his policies, while the Republicans obviously will hold their own conservative strength and sap the Roosevelt forces to some extent by taking conservative independents from that side. All in all, if the third party idea comes through, we can look for a fine political scramble from July to November of the 1936 campaign.

The progressives, including such men as LaFollette of Wisconsin, Norris of Nebraska, and Wheeler of Montana, to name only three, seem to feel that the New Deal program has about jelled. They know, as all political observers know, that there are a good many hundred thousand votes scattered around waiting to be cast in favor of a program much more radical than that to which Mr. Roosevelt has been, willing to agree. But the progressives have a distinct problem of their own. It is an entire absence of an outstanding leader of the hero type who can sound the trumpet and call for the progressives to "follow me." My inquiries among all veins of political opinion have given me no clue to the name of an individual who can head up the movement. As I said above, however, results cannot be predicted now and one must add to that statement also that one cannot guess at the leadership of this new movement because it will have to jell further before that leadership appears on the horizon.

It is even possible that these current third party rumblings will mean no more than they have in many cases in the past. This is true because there is not a Theodore Roosevelt in sight at the moment and some astute politicians insist there is not one in the country. If a man of the late Teddy's type and qualities should come to the surface then probably this third party movement would develop into formidable proportions. If one does not show up, I do not see how the progressives will be any more in 1936 than the scattered fragments of a dozen-odd political philosophies.

That brings us to some of the circumstances in congress at the present time. In previous letters I have reported to you that there were signs indicating difficulties for Mr. Roosevelt in holding his gigantic Democratic majorities together in the house and senate. That condition has become somewhat more aggravated than it appeared when I first commented upon it. There have been minor defections breaking loose from the Democratic majority in the house and in the senate with considerable frequency. On one or two occasions the defections were exceedingly large and, when joined with the Republican minority, were almost large enough to constitute the majority strength. The Democratic leadership has wriggled out, thereby saving its skin, but the margin of safety was such as to cause sleepless nights not only in the Capitol, but in high places in the administration.

As one of the signs of this growing discontent, one has only to look back over the last few weeks and observe the continued prodding being given the administration from the Democratic side. The worst phase of this prodding is the apparent willingness of many Democratic representatives and senators to promote investigations.

There is a faction in congress, all claiming to be good Democrats, who are on the trail of Farley's scalp. There is another bloc of equally good Democrats who would be quite happy to have Secretary Ickes ousted out of the position of secretary of the interior and who squawked loud and long about giving Mr. Ickes control of the $5,000,000,000 relief appropriation.

Within the last few days a gang has banded together on the trail of Donald Richberg, until recently the man who was closest of any in the administration to the President. To add to Mr. Richberg's troubles, he is on the outs with the American Federation of Labor and it must be said that the federation can do a great deal with many members of the house and senate. So, when the legislation for continuance of the National Recovery Administration gets on the floors of congress I think it is likely this group will tear off some Richberg bark.

Governor Eccles of the Federal Reserve bureau, a rather new New Dealer and a fast thinker, has not helped the administration's situation in congress any by his bank bill. He has antagonized the most virulent fighter in the halls of congress, namely, Senator Glass, Democrat of Virginia, by the banking proposals which he sponsored. Senator Glass has always had a following in the senate and he has it now. Whatever he does, therefore, his leadership will be important because he will have not only his own following but the conservative Republicans as well.

The banking legislation, according to the view in many quarters, may turn out to be the focal point, the issue, on which the line of cleavage between the administration New Dealers and the conservatives will be definitely established.

In discussing congressional troubles for the administration no one dares overlook the stocky figure of Senator Huey Long. Huey just does not like Mr. Roosevelt. In fact Huey would like to be President himself. Political ambitions combined with a vitriolic tongue give Huey a broad platform upon which to perform and unless I miss my guess he is willing to be increasingly troublesome to the administration.

Huey knows that the administration is going to overlook no opportunity for harpooning him. Among the executive departments in Washington, one hears hints, and sometimes more than hints, that Huey is vulnerable and that these weaknesses in his armor will be exposed in due course. How much steam the administration can or will turn on is highly problematical. It must be remembered that if, for example, Attorney General Cummings should authorize or direct any action against Huey the Louisiana senator immediately would capitalize those orders as an administration movement to persecute him. In other words the administration is in a spot where it can easily make a martyr out of Huey. The result of that would be to strengthen Huey's position immeasurably. I am told that any fighting back on the part of the administration, in so far as Huey Long is concerned, is going to be given long and serious consideration because Huey is a political bombshell.

As to Huey Long

Mr. Roosevelt. In fact Huey would like to be President himself. Political ambitions combined with a vitriolic tongue give Huey a broad platform upon which to perform and unless I miss my guess he is willing to be increasingly troublesome to the administration.

Huey knows that the administration is going to overlook no opportunity for harpooning him. Among the executive departments in Washington, one hears hints, and sometimes more than hints, that Huey is vulnerable and that these weaknesses in his armor will be exposed in due course. How much steam the administration can or will turn on is highly problematical. It must be remembered that if, for example, Attorney General Cummings should authorize or direct any action against Huey the Louisiana senator immediately would capitalize those orders as an administration movement to persecute him. In other words the administration is in a spot where it can easily make a martyr out of Huey. The result of that would be to strengthen Huey's position immeasurably. I am told that any fighting back on the part of the administration, in so far as Huey Long is concerned, is going to be given long and serious consideration because Huey is a political bombshell.

There is a faction in congress, all claiming to be good Democrats, who are on the trail of Farley's scalp. There is another bloc of equally good Democrats who would be quite happy to have Secretary Ickes ousted out of the position of secretary of the interior and who squawked loud and long about giving Mr. Ickes control of the $5,000,000,000 relief appropriation.

Within the last few days a gang has banded together on the trail of Donald Richberg, until recently the man who was closest of any in the administration to the President. To add to Mr. Richberg's troubles, he is on the outs with the American Federation of Labor and it must be said that the federation can do a great deal with many members of the house and senate. So, when the legislation for continuance of the National Recovery Administration gets on the floors of congress I think it is likely this group will tear off some Richberg bark.

Governor Eccles of the Federal Reserve bureau, a rather new New Dealer and a fast thinker, has not helped the administration's situation in congress any by his bank bill. He has antagonized the most virulent fighter in the halls of congress, namely, Senator Glass, Democrat of Virginia, by the banking proposals which he sponsored. Senator Glass has always had a following in the senate and he has it now. Whatever he does, therefore, his leadership will be important because he will have not only his own following but the conservative Republicans as well.

The banking legislation, according to the view in many quarters, may turn out to be the focal point, the issue, on which the line of cleavage between the administration New Dealers and the conservatives will be definitely established.

In discussing congressional troubles for the administration no one dares overlook the stocky figure of Senator Huey Long. Huey just does not like Mr. Roosevelt. In fact Huey would like to be President himself. Political ambitions combined with a vitriolic tongue give Huey a broad platform upon which to perform and unless I miss my guess he is willing to be increasingly troublesome to the administration.

Huey knows that the administration is going to overlook no opportunity for harpooning him. Among the executive departments in Washington, one hears hints, and sometimes more than hints, that Huey is vulnerable and that these weaknesses in his armor will be exposed in due course. How much steam the administration can or will turn on is highly problematical. It must be remembered that if, for example, Attorney General Cummings should authorize or direct any action against Huey the Louisiana senator immediately would capitalize those orders as an administration movement to persecute him. In other words the administration is in a spot where it can easily make a martyr out of Huey. The result of that would be to strengthen Huey's position immeasurably. I am told that any fighting back on the part of the administration, in so far as Huey Long is concerned, is going to be given long and serious consideration because Huey is a political bombshell.

There is a faction in congress, all claiming to be good Democrats, who are on the trail of Farley's scalp. There is another bloc of equally good Democrats who would be quite happy to have Secretary Ickes ousted out of the position of secretary of the interior and who squawked loud and long about giving Mr. Ickes control of the $5,000,000,000 relief appropriation.

Within the last few days a gang has banded together on the trail of Donald Richberg, until recently the man who was closest of any in the administration to the President. To add to Mr. Richberg's troubles, he is on the outs with the American Federation of Labor and it must be said that the federation can do a great deal with many members of the house and senate. So, when the legislation for continuance of the National Recovery Administration gets on the floors of congress I think it is likely this group will tear off some Richberg bark.

Governor Eccles of the Federal Reserve bureau, a rather new New Dealer and a fast thinker, has not helped the administration's situation in congress any by his bank bill. He has antagonized the most virulent fighter in the halls of congress, namely, Senator Glass, Democrat of Virginia, by the banking proposals which he sponsored. Senator Glass has always had a following in the senate and he has it now. Whatever he does, therefore, his leadership will be important because he will have not only his own following but the conservative Republicans as well.

The banking legislation, according to the view in many quarters, may turn out to be the focal point, the issue, on which the line of cleavage between the administration New Dealers and the conservatives will be definitely established.

In discussing congressional troubles for the administration no one dares overlook the stocky figure of Senator Huey Long. Huey just does not like Mr. Roosevelt. In fact Huey would like to be President himself. Political ambitions combined with a vitriolic tongue give Huey a broad platform upon which to perform and unless I miss my guess he is willing to be increasingly troublesome to the administration.

Huey knows that the administration is going to overlook no opportunity for harpooning him. Among the executive departments in Washington, one hears hints, and sometimes more than hints, that Huey is vulnerable and that these weaknesses in his armor will be exposed in due course. How much steam the administration can or will turn on is highly problematical. It must be remembered that if, for example, Attorney General Cummings should authorize or direct any action against Huey the Louisiana senator immediately would capitalize those orders as an administration movement to persecute him. In other words the administration is in a spot where it can easily make a martyr out of Huey. The result of that would be to strengthen Huey's position immeasurably. I am told that any fighting back on the part of the administration, in so far as Huey Long is concerned, is going to be given long and serious consideration because Huey is a political bombshell.

There is a faction in congress, all claiming to be good Democrats, who are on the trail of Farley's scalp. There is another bloc of equally good Democrats who would be quite happy to have Secretary Ickes ousted out of the position of secretary of the interior and who squawked loud and long about giving Mr. Ickes control of the $5,000,000,000 relief appropriation.

Within the last few days a gang has banded together on the trail of Donald Richberg, until recently the man who was closest of any in the administration to the President. To add to Mr. Richberg's troubles, he is on the outs with the American Federation of Labor and it must be said that the federation can do a great deal with many members of the house and senate. So, when the legislation for continuance of the National Recovery Administration gets on the floors of congress I think it is likely this group will tear off some Richberg bark.

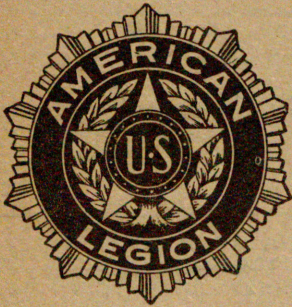

Governor Eccles of the Federal Reserve bureau, a rather new New Dealer and a fast thinker, has not helped the administration's situation in congress any by his bank bill. He has antagonized the most virulent fighter in the halls of congress, namely, Senator Glass, Democrat of Virginia, by the banking proposals which he sponsored. Senator Glass has always had a following in the senate and he has it now. Whatever he does, therefore, his leadership will be important because he will have not only his own following but the conservative Republicans as well.

The banking legislation, according to the view in many quarters, may turn out to be the focal point, the issue, on which the line of cleavage between the administration New Dealers and the conservatives will be definitely established.

In discussing congressional troubles for the administration no one dares overlook the stocky figure of Senator Huey Long. Huey just does not like Mr. Roosevelt. In fact Huey would like to be President himself. Political ambitions combined with a vitriolic tongue give Huey a broad platform upon which to perform and unless I miss my guess he is willing to be increasingly troublesome to the administration.

Huey

The Voice of the American Legion

By The Tinley Park Post No. 615
GREATER DIRECT CHILD
RELIEF IS 1935 OBJECTIVE

Increased direct relief of the orphans and needy children of World War veterans will feature the 1935 child welfare program of The American Legion.

The entire one-half of the income from the Legion's $5,000,000 endowment fund allocated to child welfare, amounting to $2,300, will go for feeding and care of suffering children. Not one penny will be used for administration expenses. The American Legion will assume all costs for salaries and overhead out of its income from membership dues.

In addition to the $2,300 endowment fund income allocated to direct relief for 1934-35, the Forty and Eight, fun and honor society of the Legion, will contribute up to $18,000 for the same cause, as may be asked by the Legion during the year, the Eight and Forty, fun and honor organization of the Auxiliary, has donated $3,000 for this worthy purpose.

The Auxiliary itself has set aside $10,000 for special services where needed in various states for educational and legislative work during 1935 in connection with the Legion child welfare work, and the Forty and Eight also has put up an additional sum to defray the necessary expenses of conferences in various parts of the country by those interested in the Legion child welfare work.

Large as these expenditures by the national organization of The American Legion may seem, they are multiplied many times by the amounts the local Legion posts and Auxiliary units plan to spend during the year. The vast scope of this humanitarian program may best be judged by the fact that during 1933-34 the thousands of Legion posts and Auxiliary units spent more than $722,798.91 in aiding approximately 212,085 children, representing 65,074 families. A large part of these funds is raised each year by the posts and units through their share received from red poppy sales.

Department Adjutant Bob Morrow, of Mississippi, tells of a racy crowd leaving a party late one night. They stopped in the street for rather long and weighty conference. Finally one of the number went into a yard, up the porch steps of the residence, and knocked on the door. His pounding was answered by a woman in none too pleasant a frame of mind.

"What do you want?" she demanded.

"Does Mr. Blank live here?" the man inquired.

"Yes."

"Are you Mrs. Blank?"

"Yes, I am, but what do you want?"

"Only, lovely lady, that you please come out here and pick out Mr. Blank—the rest of us want to go home."

An old colored preacher over in Virginia was noted for his use of six-cylinder words, many of which he did not always understand himself. He startled his congregation one morning with this announce ment:

"Brethern an' sistern, pay me strick mind, foh I'm ebout to 'nounce. Next Sunday—dat is one week from dis day—dar will be a mos' importunate celebration in dis congregation. An' I wants all of you to be on han' to witness de holy doin's, foh I's gwine ter baptize nine adults and sixteen adutlresses."

FRANKFORT

Mrs. Chas. Pfeifer

Mrs. George Stellwagen was taken to the Billings Memorial hospital in Chicago Saturday.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Elsner Oil company will be held in the Frankfort office, March 5 at 2 o'clock. Two directors will be elected.

The Ladies aid of the St. Peters Evangelical church held their regular business meeting and birthday coffee Thursday afternoon and evening. The committee is composed of Mrs. Henry Klepper, Mrs. Henry Harnack, Mrs. Jake Feil, Mrs. Frank Marti, Mrs. Alvin Bruggeman, Mrs. William Breidert, Mrs. Ezra Marti, Mrs. Ferdinand Scheer, and Mrs. W. Englemann. A program was given in the evening.

The Frankfort Musical Ensemble will give a card and bunco party at the school Friday evening, March 1.

Harold Cheney met with an auto accident Sunday morning at 3 o'clock on route 6 near Monster, Ind., and was taken to the Hammond hospital. He had a bad cut on the right eye besides cuts and bruises. He was brought home Monday afternoon and is slowly improving. He drives car thru from Detroit.

Mrs. Otto Pearson and daughters Edith and Gertrude of Joliet, spent Monday evening at the Frank Cheney home.

Mrs. Emma Luhring is very ill in her home.

Miss Hilda Gerhold who is a patient in the Silver Cross Hospital is improving nicely.

MOKENA

A daughter was born in St. Joseph hospital, Joliet on Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Reed Chamberlain of Joliet. Mrs. Chamberlain bore her marriage was Miss Madeline Wachter of Mokena.

Wm. Myrick is ill in his home with an attack of the flu.

The sophomore class of the Mokena High School presented their class play "The Poor Rich" at the school auditorium Thursday evening. The play was ably presented and was much enjoyed.

Bruno Anthony who has been in charge of one of the local Rock Island railroad sections as foreman, bid in a similar job at Atkinson, Illinois, and moved there Wednesday of this week. Before coming to Mokena about two years ago Mr. Anthony resided in Atkinson which is about 120 miles west of here.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rinke was baptised Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Catholic church. Name given was Mary Ann. Miss Elizabeth Rinke and Raymond Heiman were the sponsors.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church have just completed a contest in which the blue side lost. They tendered the Red or winning side, a Washington party in the church Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Minnie Nebeker had charge of the entertainment which was made up of games, songs, contests, etc. A very enjoyable time is reported.

Luncheon was served at quartet tables which were laid with red, white and blue covers. Small red, white and blue hatchets were used as favors.

Measles are claiming many patients in the village among the younger children.

Paul Roesener who has been laid up with rheumatism is able to be out again.

SCHOOL NEWS

Because of measles and chicken pox many of the pupils in Mrs. Ferguson's room are absent.

Last Tuesday the pupils in the fifth grade had a spelling match. Doris Coler was the winning girl and Roy Homerding the winning boy.

Miss Vail spent the week end in Benton Harbor, Mich., where she was visiting relatives.

The commission on the student's picture sale amounted to five dollars.

Miss Vail wishes to thank Alice Lauffer, Virginia Brown, Elsworth McGovney, Maxwell Williams, Robert Nieman, and William Devlin for their participation in re-decorating the stage scenery.

The P. T. A. has given $15 to the school to be spent on books now being selected by the teachers.

Mokena opens the Joliet tournament playing Lisbon Wednesday, March 6, at 7:00. If Mokena wins they will play Joliet the following night.

Dearest Snodgrass:— Never in my life have I been so thrilled. Right now my heart is doing a square dance on my diaphragm.

My liver just turned over on its side and my small intestines has proposed to my left lung.

My right tonsil danced a jig with my pet adenoid.

My esophagus tripped the light fantastic around my windpipe.

My whole body is a turmoil. I gotta quit. I'm so far gone, I can't even think.

Love, Peabody. Comment: What a state to be in! And I don't mean the state of Illinois either.

NEW LENOX

Gladys May

The New Lenox Flashes held their regular meeting Monday night in the home of Delores Walsh. After the business meeting cards were played and refreshments were served. A good time was had by all who attended.

Willard Sayers who has been ill with pneumonia is slightly improved.

Dr. Robert A. Weir

DENTIST

Lincoln Highway near 80th Ave.
LINCOLN ESTATES

AUCTION SALE

The Frankfort Grain Company will sell at public auction their scale house located on the E. J. & E. property south of Frankfort commencing 1 p. m. on

SATURDAY, MARCH 9, 1935

SIZE OF BUILDING 20x24 12 feet high.

TERMS: CASH.

Frankfort Grain Co.

"PRATTS"

New Feeding System cuts Feed Bills 10 to 30 per cent and grows better chicks.

There's dollars ahead for poultry men who use them.

Peter Kruncos

DEALER

181st & Harlem Ave. TINLEY PARK

Edgeview Hatchery

Big husky chicks produced under definite improvement program of breeding, feeding and management. All standard breeds in two grades. Write us, place your order early. (Compliance 5810)

Now hatching. Get your broiler chicks early.

Edgeview Hatchery

PEOTONE, ILLINOIS

Phone: 206-W

For your Milk and Cream Call

Marti's Dairy

Quality Dairy Products

PURE MILK

Rich in cream. An ideal beverage for growing youngsters.

OUR HYDRO VACING PROCESS ASSURES THE PURITY OF OUR PRODUCT.

RICH CREAM

Rich in butter fat. The kind that adds zest to the coffee and joy to the breakfast.

MARTI'S DAIRY, MOKENA

Phone Mokena 31-W-1 For Daily Delivery. Do It To-day.

and Mrs. Harlow Gougar in two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh were guests of the club.

LINCOLN ESTATE

Wilfred Niedringhaus

Mrs. R. E. Smith and son John of Chicago were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Becker, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Becker and mother, Mrs. E. T. Napper and children were week end guests in the A. C. Becker home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Becker moved from Chicago to Hazel Crest last week.

Mrs. Valentine and son Tom called on old friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Isador Edstrom are the proud parents of a 9 lb. baby boy. Mrs. Edstrom was formerly Miss Louise Tyler of Lincoln Estates.

Mrs. A. C. Becker is having dental work attended to by the new dentist Dr. Weir of the Lincoln Estates.

Mr. Sluter has returned home from the hospital where he was sick for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison have been guests in the Sluter home.

Wilma Axel of Gary, Ind., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. George Walker.

Mass will be held in the chapel on Lincoln highway each Sunday at 8 o'clock until further notice with confessions being heard before mass.

Mrs. S. Tyler spent Sunday and Monday with friends in Chicago.

Jean Tyler has the measles. Wm. Lockwood and Sylvester Tyler made a business trip to Chicago Heights Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Steuber and children attended the birthday party of Mrs. Gottfried Schinkowski Sunday afternoon in Frankfort.

Mrs. Clarence Murray was a Chicago visitor Friday.

Mrs. O. Niedringhaus and Wilfred were Chicago visitors on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Dubork, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Skord and son, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Papas and daughter of Chicago were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kovar Sunday.

Bill's Barbershop

In former Royal Blue Store Bldg., in MOKENA, ILL.

Satisfaction My Motto

Haircuts 35c

Children's Haircuts 25c

Shaves 15c

Your patronage solicited.

Wm. EVITT, Proprietor

Publication Notice

STATE OF ILLINOIS,) ss.

WILL COUNTY,) ss.

In the Circuit Court.

Leslie Fugett, Plaintiff,

VS

Dorothy Fugett, Defendant.

Civil Action In Equity.

No. 41545

Affidavit showing that the defendant Dorothy Fugett, is not a resident of the State of Illinois at the present time, but she resides at the present time at 3502 Central Avenue, St. Petersburg, Florida having been filed in the office of the Clerk of this court, notice is therefore, hereby given to said Dorothy Fugett defendant that the plaintiff in the above entitled cause filed his complaint in said cause on the 16th day of February 1935, and that said action is now pending and undetermined in said court, and that you, the said Dorothy Fugett defendant, must file your answer or otherwise make your appearance in said action on or before the first Monday in the month of April, 1935, and in the event you fail to do so default may be entered against you.

PAUL V. WUNDER, Clerk of said Court. Fred W. Walter Plaintiff's Attorney February 16th, A. D. 1935. Feb. 22, Mar. 1-8, 1935.

Master's Sale

STATE OF ILLINOIS,) ss.

WILL COUNTY,) ss.

In the Circuit Court of Will County, January Term, A. D. 1935.

Hansen & Petersen Company

a Corporation, et al.,

Plaintiffs

vs.

Robert E. Parks, Admr., etc., et al.,

Defendants.

In Chancery, No. 41198.

Public notice is hereby given, that, in pursuance of a decree of said Court, entered in the above entitled cause on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1935, the undersigned

Master in Chancery will, on Tuesday, the 12th day of March, A. D.

1935, commencing at ten o'clock in the forenoon, (Central Standard

Time) inside the north main entrance on the second floor of the Court House, in said County of

Will, sell to the highest and best bidder or bidders the following described real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy this decree, to-wit:

Lot fifty-four (54), in Westacres,

a Subdivision of the South 694.0

feet of the Southeast quarter

(SE 1/4) of the Northwest quarter

(NW 1/4) of Section Eight (8), in Township thirty-five (35) North,

Range ten (10) East of the third principal meridian, in Will County,

Illinois.

Terms of Sale: for cash.

Dated at Joliet, Illinois, this 19th day of February, A. D. 1935.

Master In Chancery of Will County,

JOHN J. WELLNITZ,

John B. Anderson,

Complainant's Solicitor.

Feb. 22, March 1, and 8, 1935.

Weekly Specials
SPECIALS

SUGAR, Pure Cane, 10 pounds	51c
SHREDDED WHEAT	12c
KOSTO PUDDING, 3 Packages for	14c
WHITE CITY PINK SALMON Tall can 2 for	25c
WHITE CITY LARGE CAN PEACHES	19c
CANE & MAPLE PANCAKE SYRUP 22 oz jar	15c
WHITE CITY SPAGHETTI or MACARONI 1 lb. pkg.	7c
ROSEMARY EGG NOODLES half pound package	8c
1 LB. JAR PURE ASSORTED JELLIES	14c
BREAKFAST CUP COFFEE	19c
ROSEMARY TOMATO SAUCE	5c

J. C. FUNK

PHONE 2-R

TINLEY PARK, ILLINOIS

As Seeding Time Approaches

Prices are advancing. Book your orders now.

FIELD SEEDS

Alfalfa- Blue Tag, Grimm, Montana, Hardy Idaho,

Kansas and Nebraska. Clover—Mammoth, medium red, sweet, alsike, white Dutch. Blue Grass, Timothy,

Red Top Rye Grass, Hungarian and German Millet, Sundan Grass, Rape, Sunflower Seed, Orchard

Grass.

CORN, OATS, WHEAT, BARLEY

Buckwheat, Flaxseed, Speltz, Cane Seed, Korean

Lespedeza, Soy Beans, Canadian Peas.

FULL LINE OF GARDEN SEEDS, package or Bulk

SEED POTATOES, LAWN GRASS SEED, FERTILIZER, WAYNE FEEDS.

Lake-Cook Farm SUPPLY
CO.

Phone Tinley Park 117

TINLEY PARK, ILL.

PRE-LENTEN DANCE

—GIVEN BY—

Goeselville Baseball Club

At BACHELOR GROVE BALLROOM

143rd STREET AND BACHELOR GROVE ROAD

As in the past, an unusually good dance.

SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 1935

DEL HAMELEN'S WCRW ORCHESTRA

ENTREE 9:00 P. M.

ADMISSION 35 Cents Per Person

MEL'S SERVICE STATION

Phillips Products
LEE TIRES

Sold on easy monthly payment plan
Greasing, Quaker State Oil, Kendall

Motor Oil

177th & Oak Park ave. Tinley Park, Ill.

Phone Tinley Park 86

ORLAND PARK

George Vogt and Austin Arnold have returned from a trip to Tennessee.

Friday a number of autos skidded when coming from the Southwest Highway onto 143rd and one car barely missing hitting the front of the George Yunker tavern when the driver applied the brakes.

Arthur Beagley had a close call from serious injury recently while driving on Keane avenue in a fog when his car struck the rear end of another car which had no lights.

Mrs. Francis Miller who formerly conducted the Purple Candle in the Loebe building on 143rd street and who moved to Willow Springs last fall, has rented the Loebe building back again and will move back to Orland Park and re-open the Purple Candle on or before March 15th.

Mrs. Louis Arnold attended the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Caroline Pauls, aged 75 years, held Tuesday at Oak Lawn.

In spite of her advanced age, Mrs. Pauls was active until a week ago when she fell while visiting friends in Palos Park.

Surviving are 11 children, 25 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren. Mrs. Pauls resided in Oak Lawn for the past ten years. One son from Pittsburg, Pa., and two sons and one daughter from Oklahoma were here to attend the funeral.

Seven members of the Orland Park (Laurel) Camp of the Royal Neighbors journeyed to Goodings Grove on Thursday, Feb. 21st to join in the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Good Luck camp of that community. A pot luck dinner was served and the ladies reported an abundance of good things to eat. One of the features was a magnificent birthday cake with twenty-five candles on it. An interesting and enjoyable afternoon was had by all.

The following Orland Park ladies were in the visiting party: Mrs. Loretta Ludwig, Mrs. Hilda Cox, Mrs. Lillian Knox, Mrs. Harriett Gee, Mrs. Hazel Mohr, Mrs. Theresa Wagner and Miss Marion Lister.

Plans are being made by the Laurel Camp of Orland Park to celebrate its own 36th anniversary next month.

The "Washington's Birthday" Coffee Party" which is an annual event sponsored by the Adult Bible Class of the Orland Park M. E. church, was held last Friday evening in Creer's Hall. Mary Kramer was in general charge of the event and Iva Hanson supervised the games.

An excellent attendance responded to the general invitation which had been sent out and everyone thoroughly enjoyed every feature of the evening's entertainment. Gen. George Washington was present in the person of George Munch. The decorations, games and favors were all in keeping with the spirit of the day. One of the feature events of the evening was a special "100 yard dash race" with Rev. John Mullen and Jake Kramer as the contestants and in which the good pastor came out second best.

Good coffee and better coffee cake have come to be synonymous with any affair with which Mary Kramer is connected and this occasion proved no exception to the rule. The excellence of the refreshments the novelty of the game and the general good fellowship prevailing among all present made the evening a splendid success, socially and financially.

On Wednesday evening, a joint meeting of the official boards of the church school was held in the church basement. Considerable difficulty has been experienced by the pastor in the past in getting the members of these boards to attend these meetings in anything like the number that should be present at them. He therefore invoked the old Methodist dictum of "Feed them and bring them in" and it worked like a charm. Almost a full attendance of both boards gathered around the tables to enjoy a delightful "pot luck" supper and the good fellowship that such an association engendered. Following the supper, the pastor and the superintendent of the church school were enabled to take up the business of their respective bodies with the best representation of the members that has been gotten together in a year.

MARLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Corp, Royal and Earle Corp visited at the home of their sister, May Corp, in Chicago, last week.

Mr. David Gillett has been visiting in Marley and has been staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bell were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bell.

The dining room committee of the Ladies' Missionary served lunch at the auction sale of Mr. Bennett Peters. Mr. Peters will return to his home in Iowa.

Last Saturday evening a group of relatives met together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall in honor of Mr. Marshall's birthday. The gathering was also a celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Marshall's twenty-eighth wedding anniversary.

Next Saturday evening the Hadley School and the Lynk School under the direction of Mrs. Randall Storm and Miss Gladys Leatherman will sponsor a party at the Glen Peterson garage. Cards, bunco and dancing will be the entertainment for the evening. Supper will be served. There will be no admission at the door, but a free-will offering will be taken up.

Last Monday evening a moving picture entitled "King of Kings" was shown at the Marley Church. Quite a gathering attended this well worth while picture.

Mr. A. K. Wakeland spent part of the week end visiting friends in and around Marley. Mr. Wakeland motored to Hoopeson with Ethel and Earle Rapson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kirkson of West Lockport, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kase.

Mrs. Tony Messman was a guest Tuesday, of Mrs. A. L. Sproat.

Mrs. William Kase spent the past week with Mrs. Homer Kemp in Cherry Hill.

Mr. Thomas Sproat spent Thursday with his daughter, Mrs. Ella Heggie in Joliet.

Last Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Huesing and Mrs. Julian Gorham attended a birthday party in Lockport at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Drick.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ebeling of Orland Park visited with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Huesing last Wednesday night.

The Arbor of Gleaners will sponsor a dance at the Colonial Hall in New Lenox on March fifteenth.

Homer

Mrs. Fred Kopelman

Thursday, the members of the Good Luck Camp of R. N. A., No. 2214, of Goodings Grove celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary. At 12:30 o'clock, a delicious pot luck dinner was enjoyed by all, after which the regular business meeting was held, and also an appropriate "in memoriam" service for the seven deceased charter members.

The officers of the camp also put on the "floor work", which included marches and drills and this feature was especially appreciated by the other members and several visiting neighbors from the Orland Camp.

To conclude the day's pleasure, bunco was played at seven tables. Those who received the awards for high scores were Miss Marion Lister, Mrs. Lawrence Doctor, Mrs. Marie Welter, Mrs. Eliza Perish and Mrs.

Will Ross.

The M. W. A. hall company will sponsor a Prize Waltz dance in Goodings Grove on Saturday night, March 2nd. Lea's Melody Boys of Joliet will furnish the music.

Wednesday, little Lorraine Lucille Boyce at the age of fourteen months, passed away at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago after a brief illness.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Boyce, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Boyce of Homer; Mr. and Mrs. John Dykes of Tennessee and her great grandmothers, Mrs. Alice Paddock and Mrs. Lillian Boyce of Homer.

Funeral services were held from the Goodale Funeral home, Saturday, February 23, with the Rev. H. R. Jay officiating. Willard Rowley sang "In the Garden" and "Abide with Me". Interment was made in the Barnett cemetery. The sympathy of a host of neighbors and friends are extended to the bereaved parents.

The Young People's Christian Endeavor Society met in the Homer church Sunday evening with Frank Hartman in charge of the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Haley of Chicago were guests in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Haley and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reed.

The Ladies' Missionary society met Thursday afternoon, Feb. 28 in the church parlors. Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson and Mrs. Mildred Burch were hostesses.

Church services were conducted in the Homer Congregational church Sunday by the members of the Wayside Workers Circle of the Kings Daughters. Special music was furnished by the Misses Emily and Isabel Anderson.

A goodly number from Goodings-Grove attended a card and bunco party at the Cleveland school in Cook county, Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. John Welter were among the prize winners.

In honor of the eighty-first birthday of Mrs. Alice Paddock, members of the Homer church and Sunday school presented her with a post card shower Friday.

Mrs. Stephen Putz, who recently underwent a serious operation in the St. Joseph's hospital in Joliet, has been removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Jungles.

Complimentary to their son, Elmer's birthday, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Rowley entertained at dinner, Sunday. Covers were laid for ten.

Mrs. Robert Burch has been on the sick list the past week. Tuesday evening a pinocle party was held at Carl's place in Goodings Grove. Prizes were won by William Bengston of Homer; Fred Myers of Lemont and Harry Daniels of Orland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker are ill with the Grip.

The monthly community party, which was held in the town hall, Friday night, was well attended and a good time had by all. Euchre and bunco was played followed by dancing with Messrs. Scripture and Noel of Lockport furnishing the music. Bunco prizes were awarded to Cecilia Winke, Eloise Welter, Mrs. George Ott, Tony Zolecki, Elmer Scholz and Harold Schwab. Euchre prizes went to Mrs. George Pierce, Mrs. Meader, Mrs. Fred Kopelman, Fred Kopelman, George Pierce and Jerome Poddack. The committee appointed to take charge of the March activities is Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schwab, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bump and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Konicek.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ott were guests Sunday in the Maurice Paddock home.

Kenneth Karker of San Francisco is home on a thirty day furlough.

Glenna Paddock has been ill in her home the past week with the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Ohla and Mrs. Margaret Bump of Joliet were guests Wednesday in the Arthur Hewit home.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Murphy has been placed under quarantine.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Nemeth are now enjoying electric lights in their home.

Mrs. Frank Rowley spent the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paddock in Lockport.

The home of Elvis Cagwin is now under quarantine for scarlet fever. Mr. Cagwin is very ill with the disease and his little son LaVerne is suffering with the mumps.

Twenty friends and relatives of Albert Olson surprised him in his home Wednesday night in honor of his twenty-second birthday. Cards and bunco furnished the diversions of the evening, with refreshments served at a late hour.

Homer was well represented at the dance, which was given by the Dupage Tigers Baseball team in the West Lockport Gleaner Hall, Saturday night.

A dramatic coffee was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christel Koehler, Thursday night. The club elected officers for the ensuing year.

Those elected were president, Rev. Jay; vice-president, Owen Storm; secretary, Jerome Paddock; treasurer, Miss Lois Ott; play director, Mrs. Fred Kopelman with Angelo Depra as assistant director. Henry Rodgers was also appointed to be the fifth member of the Big Five. Approximately forty members have already joined the club this year.

Kenneth Corwin, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Corwin is ill with the chicken pox.

Little Mary Boyce while playing in the barn last week, had the misfortune to step on a rusty nail, which pierced through her shoe and into her foot.

Mrs. Clara Kesser has been visiting a few days in the home of her son John and family in Orland.

Telephone Orland 54-M2

Edw. Schmaedeke
Auctioneer
ORLAND, ILLINOIS

ORVILLE J. SCHMADEKE
Funeral Director and Licensed Embalmer

Tel. 108 Orland Park, Ill.

Tel. Mokena 53-M2

Chas. Erickson
AUCTIONEER
Mokena, Illinois

Raise More Chicks

You will raise more chicks. They will grow faster and feather out better in fact barebacks are practically unknown on our feeds. Of course our feeds are freshly ground and freshly mixed. It contains all the necessary minerals and vitamins so necessary to health and growth. Our starter is low in corn meal. Starters high in cornmeal will cause constipation, poor feathering and high mortality. We manufacture our own feeds and sell them direct to you at less than wholesale.

Anderson Feed & Supply
OAK FOREST, ILLINOIS
Phone Blue Island 2685-Y-2
We sell Baby Chicks from two of the best Poultry Farms.

Before Buying

Get our prices on Timothy, Prairie Hay, Clover, Alfalfa and Lespedeza. Also Soy Beans and Oat seed.

GEORGE YUNKER, TINLEY PARK, ILLINOIS

First Spring Dance

Given by the Will County Farm Bureau
1934 State Championship Baseball Club

Saturday Nite, March 9

-Featuring-

TOM OWEN FROM WLS CHICAGO

And his orchestra and entertainers

Colonial Hall, New Lenox, Ill.
Gents 75c Dancing 9 till 1 Ladies 25c

Have you tried Our Prepared COAL?

The cost is no higher and keeps your home cleaner.

Coal, Coke & Trucking

WE DELIVER EVERYWHERE

We are no further from you than the nearest telephone

W. V. KEARN
OAK FOREST, ILL.

159th & Rock Island Tracks Phone Blue Island 711-Y-1

COMMUNITY SALE

TO BE HELD AT

BACHELORS GROVE DANCE HALL

BETWEEN 143rd and 147th Streets
Two and a half miles north of Tinley Park

EVERY TUESDAY COMMENCING 10 A. M.

HORSES, CATTLE, HOGS, POULTRY and a lot of FARM MACHINERY.

WILL ALSO HAVE TRUCKLOAD OF MICH. POTATOES

Arrangements have been made so that these sales can be held either rain or shine under cover. Anyone having anything to consign to this sale, get in touch with either of the undersigned. PHONE TINLEY PARK 116.

FRANK SMITH WILL HAVE A LOAD OF MERCHANDISE AT EACH SALE.

LUNCH WILL BE SERVED ON GROUNDS.

TERMS - CASH.

CHARLES ERICKSON, Mokena, Ill., Telephone 53-M2

EDW. SCHMAEDEKE, Orland, Ill., Telephone 54-M. AUCTIONEERS

CONLON

AUTOMATIC IRONER

$2 Down... 69c a week

New Liberal Purchase Terms to help you banish washday drudgery

• Iron a whole wash while seated comfortably! That's what you're able to do with a Conlon Automatic Ironer.

This modern labor-saving appliance can be yours at small cost. Only $2 down—the balance for as low as 69c a week, payable monthly on your Electric Service bill.

Flat pieces, blouses, ruffled curtains, dainty frocks—everything in the wash is ironed beautifully, easily, quickly. Ask to have a Conlon Ironer demonstrated to you. Your nearest Public Service Store will also explain the liberal purchase terms.

Features of the Conlon Ironer

- Iron while comfortably seated
- Irons everything easily
- Roller remains stationary for pressing
- Fingertip control
- Knee control leaves hands free
- White porcelain finish

NEW LOW PRICE

TWO SPEEDS—SAVES TIME

Ask About the 10-Day Free Home Trial

To cover interest and other costs, a somewhat higher price is charged for appliances sold on deferred payments. To the prices quoted in our advertisements, and marked on our merchandise, substantially 2% is to be added on account of additional tax expense.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

You can always find Bargains in this store

THE WHITE STORE

"There is Only One White Store in Joliet"
CASS STREET

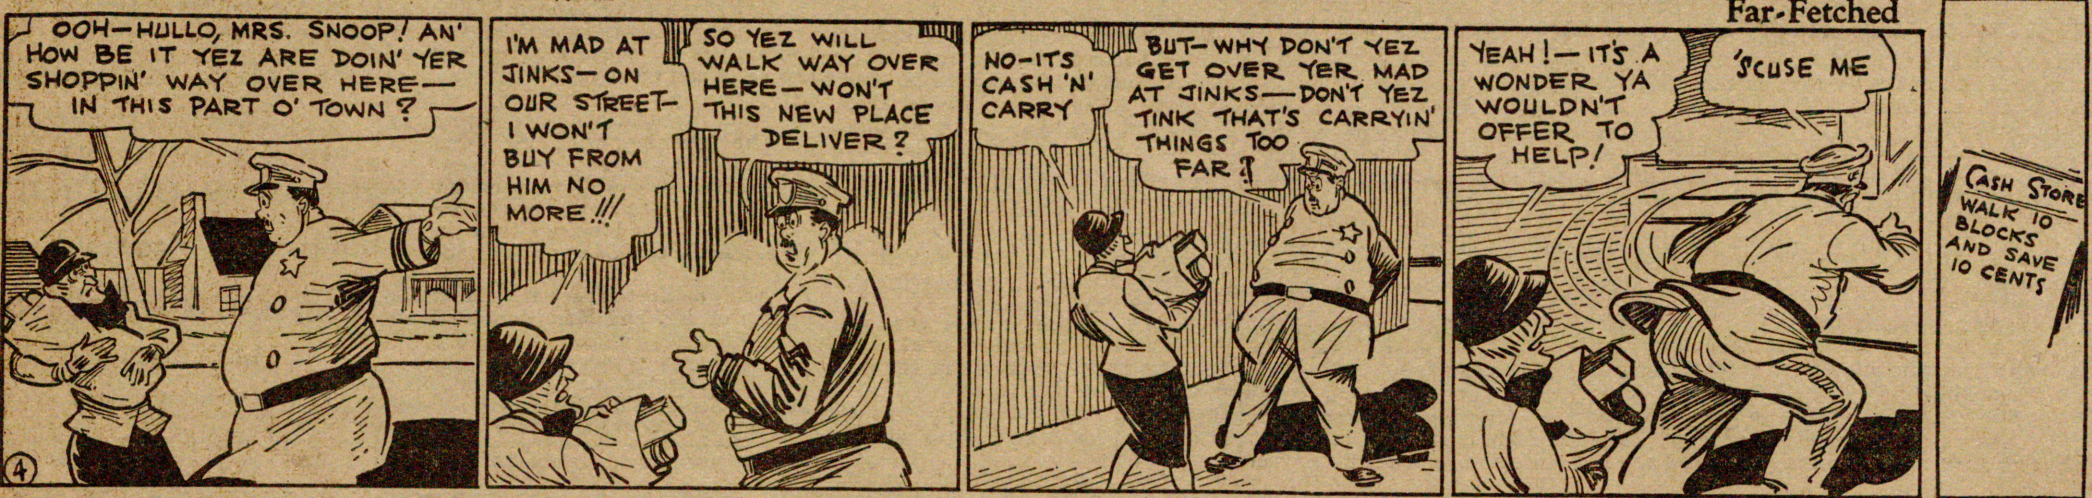

THE FEATHERHEADS

By Osborne
© Western Newspaper Union

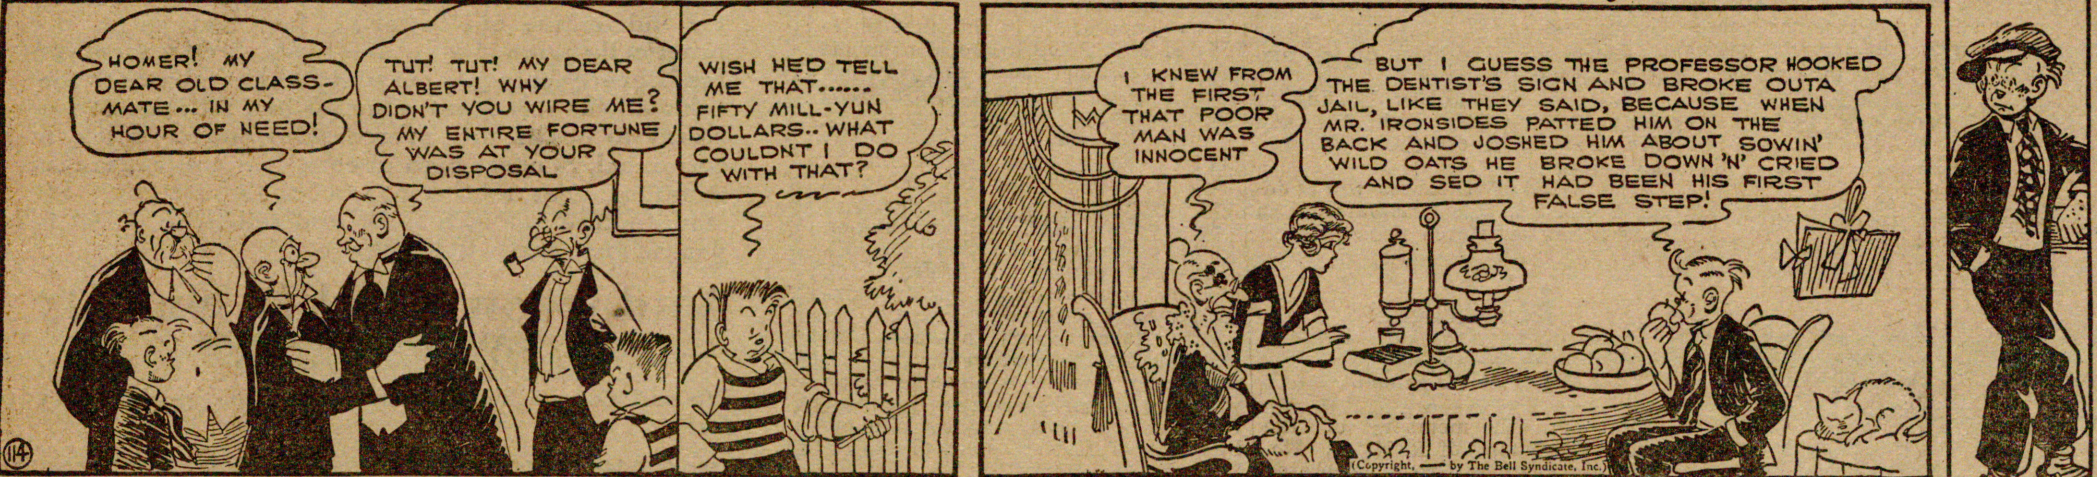

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

By Ted O'Loughlin
© By Western Newspaper Union

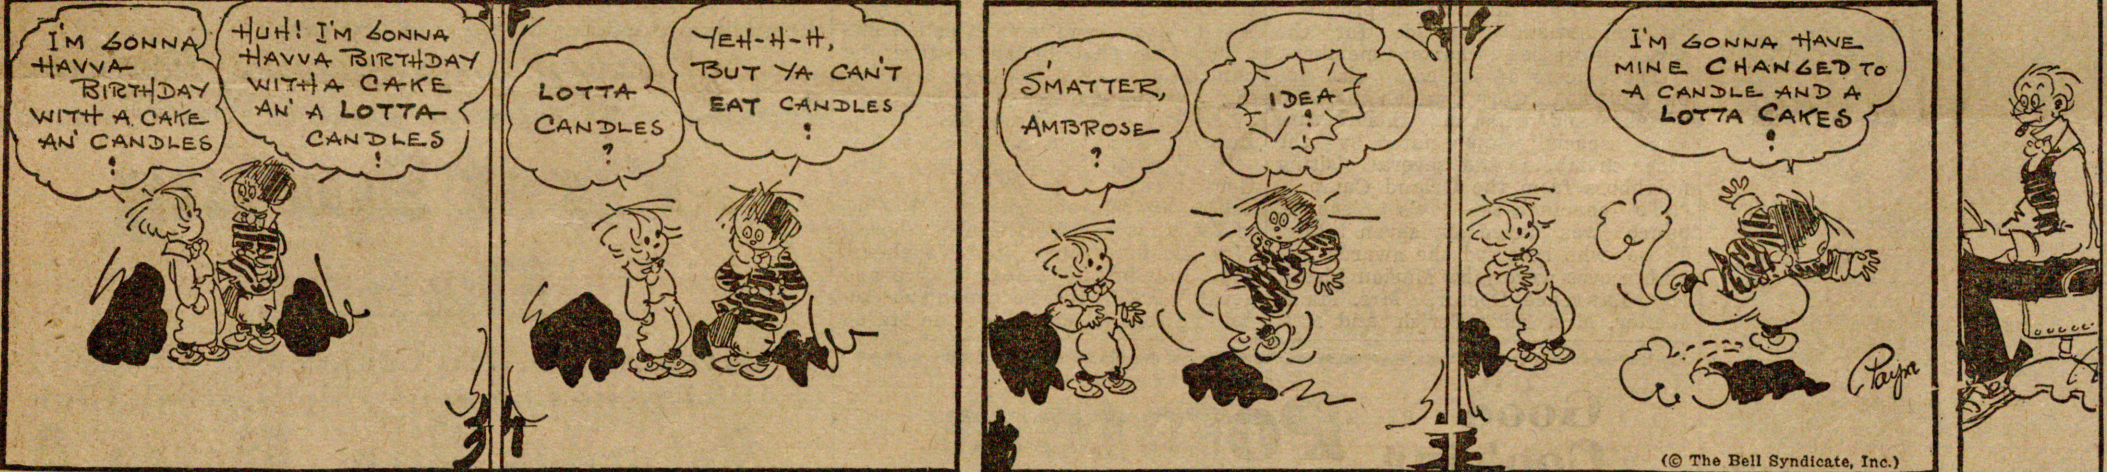

BOBBY THATCHER—...Restored To Society...

By GEORGE STORM

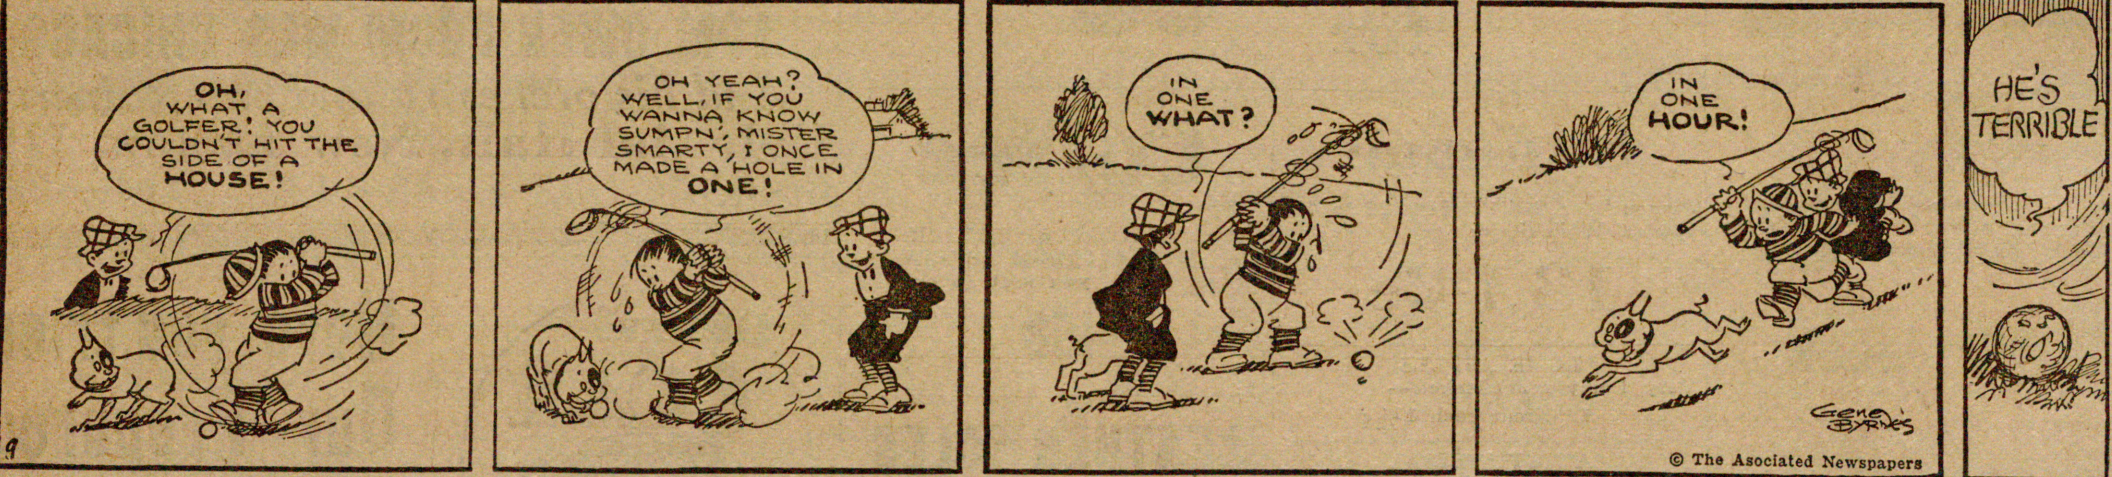

S'MATTER POP—Ambrose's Idea Of A Birthday Treat

By C. M. PAYNE

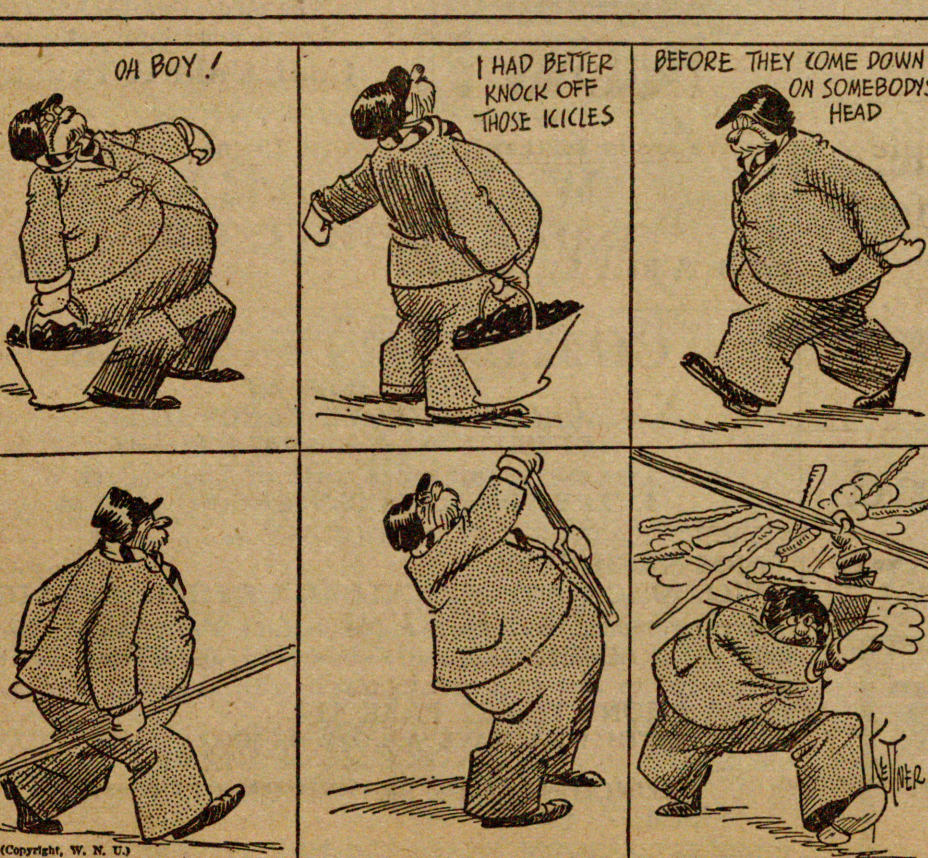

"REG'LAR FELLERS"

Anything Is Possible

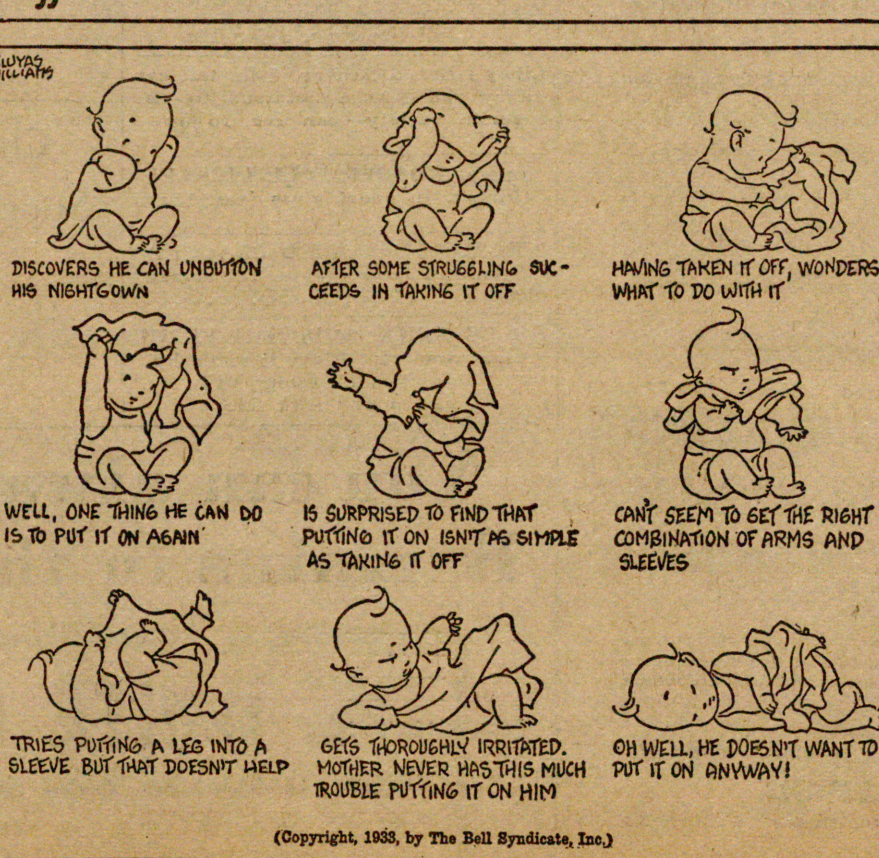

Our Pet Peeve

By M. G. KETTNER

Off and On

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

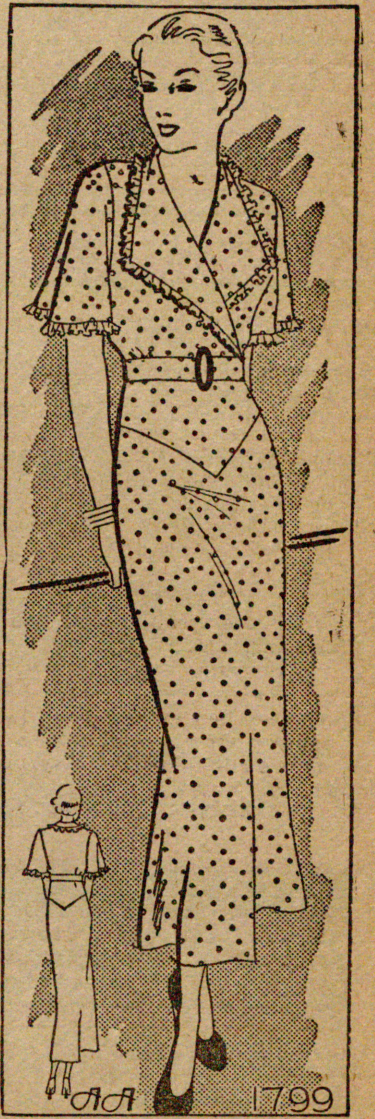

Design Wearer Can Depend On

PATTERN 1799

Anything you do with this design is smart, and you can do many things with it. Don't you like it as it is, made of a crisp, fresh little cotton? Now think of it in navy blue dotted voile with pleated net frills. Could anything be more charming? A surprise front is always one of the most becoming things a woman can wear, and the big revers make this one doubly flattering. The sleeves are as graceful as can be, and the well-proportioned points at the front and the back of the skirt do the most astonishing things for the figure when it is a bit large.

Pattern 1799 is available in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 4 1/4 yards, 36-inch fabric. It

Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE. Address orders to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York.

Smiles

THAT'S ONE ANSWER

"What is the best thing to take when one is run down?" asks a newspaper correspondent. "The number of the car.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Always Undesirable

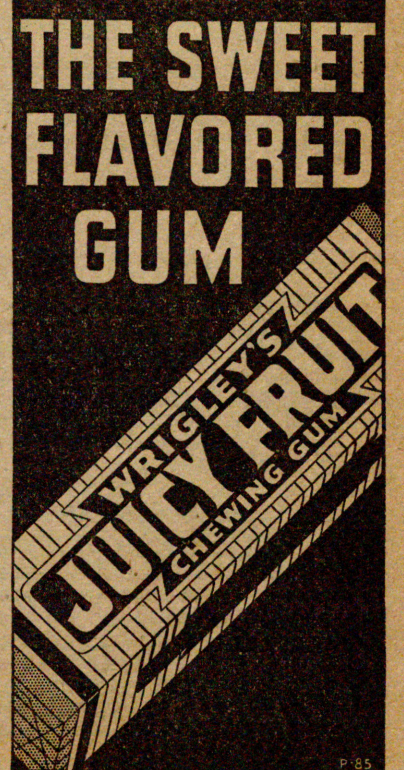

Weary Wagglers—Why shouldn't I get a hero medal? Didn't I jump into de water and rescue de child? Secretary (medal association)—But the water was only three feet deep! Weary Wagglers—Wot of dat! Water is water.

The Strong and the Weak

First Sailor—This butter is so strong it could walk over and say "Hello" to the coffee. Second Sailor—Yes, and the coffee is too weak to answer.—Texas Steer.

Not Baseball Game

"What's wrong with Eric lately? He seems to have lost all his bounce." "Yes; I dropped him."—Answers Magazine.

Golden Dawn

By
Peter B. Kyne

Copyright by Bell Syndicate
WNU Service.

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, which he names "Penelope," in a final effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. Ten-year-old Penelope is given into the keeping of Mrs. Gatlin. At a baseball game a ball strikes Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin retires from business, with Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for his daughter when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt is a rising young psychiatrist. He is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" was in part responsible.

CHAPTER II—Continued

"Lanny!" Stephen reproved her. Then to Dan McNamara: "Do you mean to tell me you left her out there unguarded? How would you explain her escape—if she had chosen to disappear?"

"I don't think she'd duck, Doc. But even if she tried it, I got a plain clothes man on guard."

"Please bring the patient in, Lanny," Stephen pleaded. "And then you might—" he glanced eloquently at their empty glasses. Lanny glared at him, so he smiled—and she ceased to glare. But she went on mumbling.

Dan McNamara shook his head sagely. "Nothing wrong with that woman's thinking apparatus," he informed Stephen.

And then Lanny ushered the new patient in. She paused just inside the door, swept the room with a slow glance and permitted her gaze to come to rest on Stephen Burt, who rose and bowed to her. Instantly the frozen hostility in her glance faded and she smiled. "Reminds me of a gargoyle," Stephen reflected.

"Meet my friend, Dr. Stephen Burt, Nance," Dan McNamara introduced her airily. "Doc, this is Nance Belden, alias Dorothy Case, alias Fay Barham, alias Elizabeth Vernon."

Stephen said politely that he was delighted to make her acquaintance, and Nance replied with acrid directness. "Why?" Whereat Stephen Burt laughed and set a chair for her. Nance plumped herself down in it with a weary sigh, jerked off her jaunty hat and threw it on Stephen's desk. "All right, Steve. Shoot! What's the idea of the big convention? Another fishing expedition?"

"Now, Nance," Dan McNamara soothed her, "you cut that out. You're not talking to Doc Blethen. Doc Burt's a gentleman."

Nance remembered her manners. "My error," she apologized.

From the doorway leading into the waiting room, Lanny gazed upon the girl with frank disapproval. Over Nance's shoulder she caught Stephen's eye and shook her head sorrowfully.

"The old girl's shocked!" Nance laughed softly without looking around, while Lanny disappeared.

"How do you know, Miss Belden?" Stephen inquired.

"Mirror," and Nance Belden pointed. "Close your eyes," Stephen commanded, "and describe this room to me."

"All right. There are two empty highball glasses on the telephone stand back of you." She sniffed. "Bourbon. The stand's three feet high and the telephone book is in the compartment under the top of the stand. The telephone is one of those combination receiver-mouthpiece things like they use in English stage scenes, and the telephone cord is white. The desk is solid walnut, I think, flat-topped and clean. You have a bronze combination inkwell, pen-rack, and pin-tray. There is a blue crayon pencil and a red crayon pencil and a black, gold-banded fountain pen on the pen rack. The fountain pen has green ink in it. I know because on the calendar pad on the desk, which is opened at November 23—although this is the 24th—you've written something with the pen very recently. You're sitting in a walnut swivel chair, brown leather upholstered, and a high back up to your shoulder tops. The Chief's chair is an over-stuffed rocker, and if you give him another drink he'll fall asleep in it. On the wall back of you, there is a framed diploma in Latin, issued to Stephen John Burt by Leland Stanford Junior University Medical school, and about four feet from it is the Oath of Hippocrates in a black frame, like the diploma. The print is old English and done in black and red. Across the room, in back of the chief, is a walnut bookcase, built in detachable tiers, and there's a white washstand in the corner close by it. The rug is beige colored and Chinese, and on the wall in back of me, where you can look at it readily, is a framed photograph of your father. It must be a photograph of your father because he looks a great deal like you. In back of me a door leads into the old lady's den and—"

here Nance opened her handbag, took out a small mirror, held it up and opened her eyes an instant—"yes, I thought so. That door is ajar and the old lady is listening to every word I say."

"Now, I'll describe you. You're a darling. You're tall and you haven't started to grow a tummy yet. You're about thirty-two or three years old, your hair is dark brown and your eyes dark blue, and you have nice teeth, and they show when you smile. You have nice hands and your nails were manicured this morning, but you have a dirty spot on the finger-nail of your right index finger—no, it isn't dirt. It's iodine. Pardon! My error. Do I win first prize, Doc?"

"In a walk, Miss Belden. You are absolutely the most amazing person I have ever examined. You are one in a million—one of those rare persons who not only see everything at a glance but take a mental photograph of it. And remember it. Yes, you win a prize."

"I'll have a highball with you boys," said Miss Belden composedly.

"You'll not, you little—this and that," Lanny countered from behind the door. "The very idea!"

"Then the party breaks up here and now," Miss Belden informed Stephen.

"Lanny," Stephen called. "I hope you aren't forgetting the laws of hospitality."

"Come on, kid," the girl entreated Lanny. "Buy me one and I'll get the chief to do something nice for you in return."

"What influence has the likes of you with the chief of police?" Lanny was emerging with two highballs.

"Do you drive a car, Miss Lanning?" Nance Belden whistled sharply to Dan McNamara.

"Get out your card, Dan. Here's the fountain pen. Write as I dictate. Ready: 'To all traffic officers: The bearer, Miss Rebecca Lanning, has the freedom of the city. She has my authority to park where she pleases and she shall not be tagged. She cannot be arrested for anything except murder and even then she must not ride in the wagon. Signed: Dan McNamara, Chief of Police.'"

Dan McNamara obeyed, Nance Belden viced the card, blotted it and handed it to Lanny. "Now, you tell 'em all who's kind to you, Rebecca. I'm some kid, am I not? You bet I'm some kid. Dan knows it and your boss things about criminal psychology and just why it would be frightful social injustice to put this girl in San Quentin."

She turned to Nance Belden, drew the girl's face down on her breast and patted the rouged cheek. "See you tomorrow, dearie," she promised. "Be a good girl now and be nice to Dan McNamara, because he's one of the best friends you'll ever have."

"Kiss me again, please," Nance whispered. And when Lanny had complied, the girl came around the desk to Stephen Burt. "I want you to kiss me, too," she said. "You're sweet—thank you a lot."

When Dan McNamara and his prisoner had departed, Lanny and Stephen looked at each other throughout a long silence, which Lanny was first to break.

"That girl's clean, Stevie. Not a touch of the slattern about her. She could pass the Binet Intelligence test so fast she'd meet it on her way back. And she isn't tough at all. She's only trying to be, and she finds it uphill work."

"Defense mechanism largely," he said. "Better go home, Lanny. Get a good night's sleep and try to forget what a sad world we live in."

"It'd be a d-d sight sadder if you didn't live in it," she snapped.

Under stress of emotion, Lanny, as she grew older, occasionally indulged herself in a little mild profanity. Stephen didn't mind. He knew she was disillusioned, middle-aged in point of years, but old with the wisdom and sadness of the world, as only a doctor or a trained nurse can be; that she had earned her privileges. As a surgical nurse she had been sworn at by doctors whose nerves grew taut as piano wires, during a dangerous operation, and she had learned to give as good as she received—wherefore the men of her world respected her and liked her, for her courage and efficiency.

"See to it that you're on hand in court tomorrow morning, Stevie, with a sweet line of scientific argument to bewilder that judge and the district attorney," she charged a little later. "Good night, my dear boy."

Dear old Lanny! Once more had occurred to her the miracle of love. A stranger—a bit of flotsam and jetsam on the muddy sea of life—had looked behind her brusque, businesslike, beligerent exterior and found the great knows it and if, by now, you don't know it, I hope Steve fires you."

Stephen Burt Rose and Bowled to Her. Instantly the Frozen Hostility in Her Glance Faded, and She Smiled.

"You are some kid. I admit it. Thank you, dear. You shall have a highball."

"Have one yourself," Nance suggested grandly. "Let's all be sociable, eh, Steve?"

"Miss Belden—" Steve began.

"Call me Nance," the strange young creature interrupted. "Why all the formality?"

"Have you any objection, Nance, to telling me your real name?"

"None at all. I don't know my real name."

"Who were your parents?"

"I don't know."

"Why did you steal the silk stockings?"

Nance threw back her head and laughed. "Why you silly, I had runs in every pair I owned."

"Poor dear!" Lanny was speaking. Her hand strayed over the girl's jet black, shiny bob; her fingers sought a shell-like ear and tugged it gently.

Nance looked up at the nurse, surprise and friendliness shining in her eyes.

"Why, you're sweet, aren't you? Why, you darling!" And she lifted her face for Lanny to kiss. Lanny kissed her. Trust Lanny for that.

"It's too late to go further tonight, Dan," Lanny said. "Bring her in at nine tomorrow morning."

"Can't, Lanny." With a bound the excellent McNamara had landed beside Lanny in the garden of friendship, as one might say. "She's due in the police court at nine o'clock for sentence. Right away she'll be waited over to the Superior court to the judge that gave her a suspended sentence two years ago. She hasn't made good, so he'll sign the commitment papers, and it'll be some time before we see our Nancy again."

"Has she an attorney?"

"The public defender, that's all," Lanny looked at Stephen. Stephen looked at Lanny. Both nodded.

"Get the best in town, Dan," Lanny urged the chief. "Doctor Burt will appear in court and plead for a stay of sentence. We'll tell that judge a few warm heart that yearned so for affection and understanding. Hers was a strange nature. She was so strong, and so possessed of the urge to share her strength with those she loved, particularly if they evinced any affection for her, that she was singularly democratic in her choice of beneficiary.

Nance Belden, like Stephen Burt, had appealed to her thwarted mother love, and nothing that the girl had been, nothing she might ever be, would alter Lanny's opinion, formed on an instant's notice, that the girl was an angel. A dark angel, perchance, and like Lucifer, fallen from high place, but—an angel nevertheless.

The presence of Chief of Police Daniel McNamara cleared a lane through the corridor of the Hall of Justice, in which the police courts of San Francisco are located.

He paused before a courtroom door. "Nance is in there," he told Stephen. "I'll not go in with you. I'd have a week of rotten publicity in all the papers if I appeared to have any special interest in the case. Her lawyer's name is Tyrrell and he'll call you as an expert witness."

TO BE CONTINUED.

Still Hope for Us

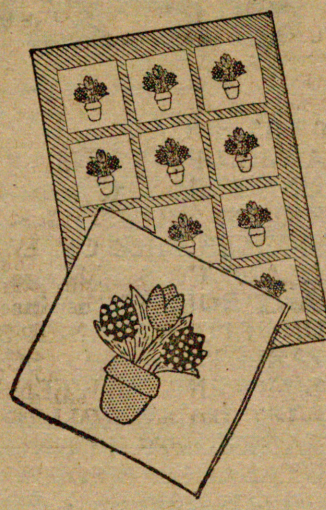

Honesty is more prevalent than many cynics suppose. A psychologist recently picked the names of a hundred men and women in many walks of life from a telephone directory and sent each a $1 bill in a letter, stating that it was a refund of an overpayment on a previous bill. Within a few days, 63 of them had returned the money with a note saying he had made a mistake. —Collier's Weekly.

Aquatic Snails

Aquatic snails are of two forms, according as they live in quiet, weedy marshes or in the depths of our lakes and rivers. The first mentioned need only thin, hornlike shells, while the river-snails require thick and strong coats of limy texture in order to withstand the rough treatment swift currents may give them, and protection against their peculiar enemies.

Tulip Has Won Popular Favor

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

The tulip adapts itself so well to applique and quilting designs that it is made use of quite frequently. This combination, showing the entire potted plant, gained popularity immediately after it was released. Tulips in bloom always form a beautiful color scheme, and this tulip pot is also brilliant in prints and green applique. These stamped blocks are 18 inches, and twelve are required for a quilt about 76 by 97 inches, if you use a nine inch border and four inch strips between blocks. Strips and border widths can be changed to make a quilt any size.

Send 15c to our quilt department for one of these stamped blocks, No. 96-F, and the stamped applique pieces ready to be cut out. Work this up and see what a beautiful quilt can be made of this design. A set of six blocks will be sent for 75c, postpaid.

ADDRESS, HOME CRAFT CO., DEPT. D., Nineteenth and St. Louis Avenue, St. Louis.

Inclose a stamped addressed envelope for reply when writing for any information.

Date Palm Cultivation

Increasing in America

Date palms are grown as ornamental trees in California, Florida, and Bermuda. Their leaves are used by Christians on Palm Sunday, and by Jews celebrating the Passover. Dates are not only eaten as such, but are made into jams, jellies, date butter, and vinegar. Date sugar, obtained from the sap of a closely related species, is an important commercial product in the East Indies. Date-palm meal is obtained from the stem of another related species growing in southern India.

Iraq furnishes almost 95 per cent of the dates imported into the United States. In 1933, the United States imported 47,492,841 pounds of Iraq dates. About 30,000,000 of these were shipped direct from that country, the rest trans-shipped through several countries of Europe. The United States imports small quantities of dates from Arabia, Algeria, Persia and Turkey, and also grows dates in the Southwest, particularly in the Coachella and Imperial valleys of southern California, and the lower Salt and Gila river valleys of Arizona.

In these gardens grow over a hundred varieties of dates. Some are used chiefly for cooking, others for eating. Some are dry, not sticky, while others "candy" on the tree. Preferred are the Ascherasi variety, probably the best dry date; and the Deglet Nour, a very sweet, soft, melting date. Its name originally meant "Date of the Light," referring to the unusual translucence of its deep, golden-brown flesh.—Bulletin of the National Geographic Society.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are best for liver, bowels and stomach. One little Pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic.—Adv.

On the Down Grade
Too much contentment leads to laziness.

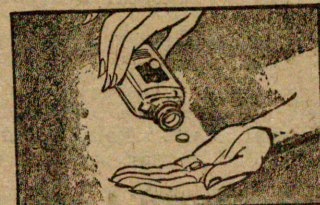

PARKER'S HAIR BALM
Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling Imparts Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
50c and $1.00 at Drugists.
Hiscox Chem. Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

FLORESTON SHAMPOO—Ideal for use in connection with Parker's Hair Balm. Makes the hair soft and fluffy. 50 cents by mail or at drugists, Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

FOR THE EYES—IRITINE
Quickly relieves strained, inflamed, irritated eyes. Externally applied. Heals, beautifies. Special trial offer: full 60c size, 35c. Ask your druggist. SMITH LABORATORIES, 185 N. WABASH, CHICAGO.

Now Relieve Your Cold "Quick as You Caught It"

For Amazingly Fast Results Remember Directions in These Simple Pictures

1. Take 2 BAYER Aspirin Tablets. Make sure you get the BAYER Tablets you ask for.

2. Drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

3. If throat is sore, crush and stir 3 BAYER Aspirin Tablets in a third of a glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat soreness almost instantly.

The simple method pictured here is the way many doctors now treat colds and the aches and pains colds bring with them!

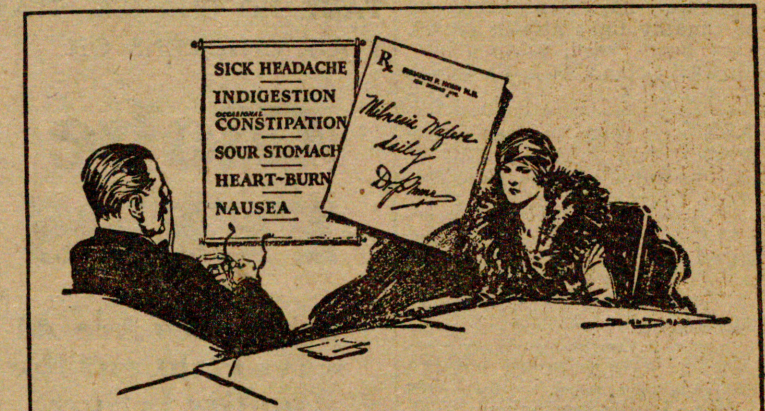

It is recognized as a safe, sure, QUICK way. For it will relieve an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, be sure that you get the real BAYER Aspirin Tablets. They dissolve (disintegrate) almost instantly. And thus work almost instantly when you take them. And for a gargle, Genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablets disintegrate with speed and completeness, leaving no irritating particles or grittiness.

BAYER Aspirin prices have been decisively reduced on all sizes, so there's no point now in accepting other than the real Bayer article you want.

NOW 15c

PRICES on Genuine Bayer Aspirin Radically Reduced on All Sizes

WHEN THE DOCTOR SAYS YOU HAVE "TOO MUCH ACID"

Health, your doctor will tell you, is based on a delicate balance in the system between alkalinity and acidity. Modern day habits, especially the foods we eat, destroy this balance by creating excess acids. Watch for acid danger signals!

In the mouth acids attack enamel, bring tooth decay and bad breath. In the stomach they attack delicate linings and bring sick headaches, indigestion, gas and constipation, and often chronic disorders.

Neutralize excess acids at once with Milnesia Wafers—original Milk of Magnesia in tasty tablet form. One Wafer before bedtime, and the whole digestive system, from mouth and gums to intestines, is kept sweet and clean and clear of these harmful acids. Thousands of physicians now recommend Milnesia instead of old fashioned liquid Milk of Magnesia.

Economical, too! Each Milnesia package contains more Magnesium Hydroxide than all other liquid forms.

MILNESIA
Corrects Acids—Keeps You Fit!

"Simoniz Makes the Finish Last Longer"

Play safe! Simoniz your car! Don't let "finish rot" go on and on, ruining its beauty. Simoniz stops this destructive decay. Makes the finish last longer and keeps it beautiful for years. If your car is dull, first use the new, improved Simoniz Kleener. It quickly restores the lustre.

MOTORISTS WISE
SIMONIZ

WEAK, TIRED AND BLUE
Send $1 for Dr. Dan Tonic, will give you Vim, Vigor and Vitality. Columbia Medical Products Co., 1179 Dennison Ave., Columbus, O.

ATTENTION FARMERS
Low cost protection on poultry houses with Echo Burglar Alarm, $6. Write Echo Electric Co., 415 S. Henrietta Ave., Rockford, Ill.

METROPOLITAN GRAND OPERA direct from its New York Stage

3-Hour Broadcast by LISTERINE

announced by Geraldine Farrar

Every Saturday · all NBC stations 12:45 P. M.

"HEARD THE NEWS?"
THE REGULAR PRICE OF CALUMET
BAKING POWDER IS NOW ONLY 25¢ A POUND!
AND THE NEW CAN IS SO EASY TO OPEN!

THE NEWS-BULLETIN

WM. SEMMLER, Editor & Publisher
Published Every Friday at
MOKENA, ILLINOIS

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Mokena, Illinois, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

A. M. Levy, Advertising Representative, 6 North Michigan ave., Chicago

FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1935

FOR SALE

WE BUY and sell dogs and puppies.
Smitty's Dog Farm, 123rd and Archer Ave., Lemont, Illinois. 52p

FOR SALE—Drop head Singer sewing machine. All kind of furniture. Two hen houses built on skedes, easy to move. John A. Martin,
Mokena, Ill. 2c

FOR SALE—Silo, 10 x 30 feet, concrete block. Good condition. S.
C. Wilson, Orland Park, 1 mile west of Wolf road on 159th st. 2c.

FOR SALE—Half h. p. Westinghouse motor priced reasonable. Roy Loebe, Orland Park, Ill. 2pc

FOR SALE—4 good work horses;
30 steel Lowden stanchions; 3 calf pens; 1 bull pen, steel post to support upper floor, all this nearly new at half price. Also have 20 tons of good soy bean hay. Reasonable. 20 tons of timothy light alfalfa mixed.
Also soy bean seed, $1.40 a bu.
Herman Gee, Orland Park, Ill. Phone
Orland 46-J-2. 3tp

FOR RENT—8 room modern house with garage, Call Frankfort 141-W or the News-Bulletin office, 6-J, Mokena. Mrs. Chas. Pfeifer.

FOR SALE—Team of 5 and 6 years old horses, well broken. Will sell separately or together. David Buckley, 1-2 mile west of Cicero ave., on 159th street.

FOR RENT—Five room cottage with gas, electric lights and city water. Mrs. J. Wannemacher, Tel.
30, Mokena.

FOR RENT—5 acre poultry farm 700 capacity, 6 room house, electricity, southwest Cook county good soil, 3 1-2 miles from Midlothian railroad station. A. O. Poskett, 147 street, 6600 west. Tel. 31-W-1, Tin-ley Park. 1c

March 12 Deadline

For Village Petitions

Spring politics are beginning to waken. Village elections are beginning to claim attention. The last day for filing petitions for village offices is March 12th. All the Villages in this section that are incorporated will elect a full ticket this spring consisting of a mayor, six aldermen and a village clerk.

TRADE WITH OUR ADVERTISERS

QUICK CASH

Our complete loan service provides a plan for every need.
Bring your own problem to us for friendly, helpful analysis.

Automobile Loans

in one hour; present balances taken up, payments reduced, additional cash. Repairs, financed. Bring your papers.

Household Loans

to husband and wife, $50.00 to $300.00, twenty months to repay; present loans refinanced.

Personal Loans

to men or women with steady employment who prefer this type of service. No publicity.

"YOU WILL ENJOY DEAL-ING WITH US"

Liberty Loan Corporation

416 Van Buren St., Phone 9263.
JOLIET, ILLINOIS

TAKE NO CHANCE. START YOUR CHICKENS ON

Globe FEEDS

Our Prices Are Always right and the Quality is Sure.

Fruit

42 large Oranges, S

Jumbo Grape Fruit and

Shopping Bag, all for

99 CENTS

Grover C. Elmore Poultry Co.

177th and OAK PARK AVE.,
Tel. Tinley Park 100

SPECIALS

10 LBS. SUGAR	49c
SALMON PINK ONE LB. CAN	15c
TUNA FISH Y. C. 7 oz. Can	15c
SHRIMPS JUMBO 5 3/4 oz. Can	18c
NOODLES FINE OR LARGE, PKG.	10c
CREAMETTES, Package	10c
KANT ROLL Clothspins 30 in box	10c
SUN-BRITE CLEANER 3 cans, 1 can free	14c
PEERLESS CASTILE SOAP, Bar	5c
CLIMOLENE, BOWLENE or LEWIS LYE can	10c
SWIFT DAISY ROLLED HAM, lb	34c
FRANKForts, POUND	20c
RUTABAGES, MEDIUM SIZE, POUND	4c
WINSAP APPLES, 4 POUNDS	25c

EVITT'S STOP & SHOP

MOKENA, ILL.

Tel. 46

Special Fri. Sat. and Sunday Only

March 1, 2 and 3

To give encouragement for you to patronize your local merchants, the Drug Store of Tinley Park will offer you special low prices on all standard Drug Store merchandise EVERY WEEK END.

We will not substitute inferior brands, nor will we try to sell you more than you require. Our prices will be governed by HONEST competition but not by cutthroat demagogues.

We will appreciate your patronage and we ask you to appreciate our service. Every week end, prices thruout the store will be substantially reduced.

75c Vick's Salve	49c	25c Johnson's Baby Soap	17c
50c Milk Magnesia	39c	25c X-Bazin	12c
25c Sedlitz Powders	16c	25c Bay Rum Lotion	14c
50c Pebecco Tooth Paste	37c	25c J & J Baby Cr.	16c
35c Forhan's Tooth Paste	21c	$1.00 Hot Water Bottle	.69c
$1.25 Absorbine Junior	.98c	25c Stationary	16c
60c Piso For Cough	.47c	1 Dz. Santo Sanitary Pads	16c
$1.25 Peruna	.98c	50c Zinc Searate	.39c
4 oz. Peroxide	.9c	25c Rub Alcohol	14c
Zinc Oxide—tubes	16c	15c Soda Mint Tab	10c
35c Analgesic Balm	19c	1 LB. Boric Acid	23c
25c Mercurochrome	16c	Wax Paper Roll	6c
50c Cuticura Oint.	.39c	Tooth Brushes	16c
20c Cotton	.14c	Tasteless Castor Oil	17c
CIGARETTES — 15c packages — 2 for	25c
ALL SMOKING TOBACCO at 10% DISCOUNT
60c LB. BUNTE CHOCOLATES—Special at	49c
1 QUART BRICK ICE CREAM for	29c

FREE Ice Cream Soda any Flavor FREE with Each Purchase $1 or over

Tinley Park Drug Store

PRESCRIPTION CHEMISTS

Phone Tinley Park 88 TINLEY PARK, ILLINOIS

Crescent Roll, Bear Claws,

French Pastry Daily

Sat. SPECIAL

Pineapple Upside Down Cake
Banana Cream Cake, Layer Cake,
Coffee Cake, etc.

Try our BLUE RIBBON bread.
It Is Good.

Tinley Park Bakery

173rd & Oak Ave. Telephone 99

ON SALE AT VOGT DEPT. STORE, J. C. FUNK
STORE, HICK & MESENBRECK IN TINLEY PARK
JAMES E. CREER STORE IN ORLAND PARK

Our store open Sunday 8 a. m. to 12 noon.

ROSE BUSH SALE

12 SEAL PAKT ROSE BUSHES regular value $7 FOR ONLY $5.88
Phone your order now and save money. We will deliver the bushes about April 15th. Each plant guaranteed to grow and bloom the first year; also we include enough fertilizer for the first season.

TWELVE POPULAR VARIETIES—Betty Uprichard, Columbia, Etoile
de France, K. A. Victoria, Mme. Butterfly, Mme. Ed. Herriot, Pink Radiance, Red Radiance, Rev. F. Page Roberts, Souv De Pernets, Souv De Geo.
Pernets, Talisman. See Samples now on display at our store.

Pyro Alcohol in sealed cans, gallon	59c
Oil Cook Stove Nearly New	$8.50
Kitchen Sink Mixing Faucets for 12" Back Special @	2.35
Rockwell Jr., Mahogany bath room bowl seats @	2.45
8 Gallon No. 18 Solar Milk Cons @	3.80
Good Grade House Brooms @	.48c
Kitchen Heater a $20.00 Value	$16.50
1000 sheets stone city toilet tissue @ 6c, 5 rolls	25c
All prices subject to stock on hand. Rose bush sale ends March 23rd.

Bettenhausen Hardware Store
PHONE 45-R TINLEY PARK, ILLINOIS

SPECIAL SALE

March 1st and 2nd

SUGAR, PURE CANE	10 pounds	51c
BUTTER, Prairie Gold	1 pound	38c
PRUNES, Choice	1 pound	10c
PANCAKE FLOUR, N. S.	1 lb 4oz.	9c
HONEY CONE	1 pound	15c
BISQUICK, 1 lb 4oz.		20c
BISQUICK, 2 lb 8oz.		32c
PEACHES, G. S. Fancy No. 2 1/2		22c
BEANS, WAX or GREEN, No. 2 Dellwood		10c
FLOUR, PLA-MATE	24 pounds	95c
FLOUR, PLA-MATE	48 pounds	1.85

Geo. F. Wannemacher

Phone 30

MOKENA, ILLINOIS

News Among the Churches

FRANKFORT M. E. CHURCH
C. F. Schellhase, Pastor.
Miss Eva Jean Pfaff, organist.
Mrs. Wesley Hollstein, Choir Director.
Mr. Urban Schellhase, Sunday School Superintendent.

Divine Worship 9:30 a. m.
Subject, "The Savior as He is."
Special music.

Sunday School at 10:30 a. m.
Men's Endeavor Club will meet at the church Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Special program. Messrs.
Henry Heisner, Geo. Brandau, Fred
Hasenjaeger, J. M. Clark, Jno. Barlow, Frank Heisner will entertain.

The Ladies' Aid will hold their monthly meeting at the church
Thursday at 1:30 p. m. Mes. Chas.
Pfaff, and C. F. Schellhase will entertain.
Choir Rehearsal Thursday 7:30 p. m.
Catechetical Instruction Saturday
at 2:00 p. m.

GREEN GARDEN M. E. CHURCH

C. F. Schellhase, Pastor
Miss Emma Andres, Organist.
Mrs. C. F. Schellhase, choir director.

Mr. Edwin Bettenhausen, Sunday
School Superintendent.
Sunday School at 9:45 a. m.
Divine Worship at 10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Compassion".

Epworth League 7:30 p. m. Chalk talk by the pastor.
Choir Rehearsal Tuesday 7:30 p. m.
Catechetical Instruction Saturday
10:30 a. m.

CATHOLIC CHURCHES

Lincoln Estate
Sundays, Mass at 8:30 a. m.
New Lenox
Sundays, Mass at 7:00 a. m.

Mokena
Rev. Father Roman, O. F. M.
ST. MARY CATHOLIC CHURCH
Mass 1st Sunday in month 7 and 9
a. m. Other Sundays 9 a. m.

ORLAND PARK M. E. CHURCH

(A Friendly Church)
Rev. John Mullen, Pastor
Church School Sup't., George
Munch; Pianist, Lois Ludwig; Choir
Director, Royal Glahn.
9:30 A. M. Church School.
10:45 A. M. Divine Worship.
7:30 p. m. Special evening service.

There will be no regular meeting of the Junior and Intermediate League as the young people will assist in the musical service of this meeting.

CHRIST LUTHERAN CHURCH

(A changeless Christ for a Changing World)
Orland Park, Illinois
Rev. A. Lach, Pastor

Bible Hour and Sunday school at 9 a. m.
Public Worship at 10 a. m.

During the Lenten Season, beginning March 6, mid-week Lenten service will be conducted in English every Wednesday evening at 7:45.
Rehearsal of the church choir every Friday evening at 7:15 o'clock.
Business meetings are held as follows: Men's club, first Monday in the month at 8:00 p. m.
Ladies Aid, first Thursday of the month at 2 p. m.
Young People Society first Thursday of the month at 8 p. m.

ORLAND PARK CHURCHES

ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH
Father Wm. Gorey
Mass each Sunday morning at 7 a. m., and 9 a. m.

TINLEY PARK CHURCHES

TINLEY PARK M. E. CHURCHES
Rev. Chas. H. Hedler, Pastor

Tinley Park English M. E. Church
Mr. Mabey, Sunday School Superintendent.

Miss Luella Foskett, Organist Services at Tinley Park M. E. at 9:30 a. m.

Sunday School 10:30 a. m.

Tinley Park German M. E. Church

H. J. Bettenhausen, Sunday
School Superintendent.
Miss Ruth Andres, Organist.
Sunday School at 9:30 a. m.
Preaching service 10:45 a. m.

TINLEY PARK CATHOLIC CHURCH

Father Boyle, Pastor
Mass every Sunday at 8:30 a. m.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Oak Park Ave. and 159th St., Wm. Greve, Pastor.

German services are to be held at 10 o'clock. Sermon on Epistle lesson for Quinquagesima Sunday,
I Cor. 13: 1-13. "Love, the greatest thing in the world."

Special Lenten services are to be held every Wednesday evening at 7:30, beginning March 6, alternating German and English. The first service will be conducted in English.

The Ladies' Aid meets next Thursday March 7, at 1:30 p. m. in the school.

EV. LUTHERAN ZION CHURCH

Tinley Park, Illinois
Alb. Buddenhagen, Pastor.

Sunday School at 9:00 a. m.
English service at 10:30 a. m.
Wednesday March 6—Ladies Aid meeting at 2:00 p. m.

English Lenten service at 7:45.
Thursday, March 7—Luther League
meeting at 8:00 p. m.

Following is the Lenten program every Wednesday at 7:45 p. m.
and for Easter:

March 6, Ash Wednesday, English
March 10, German; March 13, German; March 17, Reminiscence, English; March 20, English; March 24,
Oculi, German; March 27, German;
March 31, Laetare, English; April,
3, English; April 7, Judica, Examination; April 10, German; April 14, Palm Sunday, Confirmation;
April 18, Maundy Thursday, Holy
7:30 p. m.; April 19, Good Friday;
German at 10:30 a. m. English at 7:45 p. m.; April 21, Easter: German 9 A. M. English Communion services at 10:30 a. m. Confession at 10 a. m.; April 28, Quasimodo-geniti, German.

MOKENA CHURCHES

ST. JOHN'S EVAN. CHURCH

Mokena, Illinois
Rev. Theo. M. Haeefe, Pastor
Mildred Woodrich, organist,
Milton Woodrich, Sunday School Superintendent.

Friday March 1, Choir rehearsal
at 7:30 p. m.

Saturday March 2, Confirmation class session at 9 a. m.

Sunday March 3, Sunday school at 9:30. German service at 9:30 a. m., English service at 10:30 a. m.

Missions and mission work will be emphasized in both services.

Monday March 4, Dart ball game with Monee at Monee.

Tuesday, March 5, Brotherhood supper in the church basement.
Supper from 5 to 7:30 p. m.

Come and bring your friends, you can enjoy a good supper and a fine entertainment.

Wednesday, March 6, First Lenten service of the Lenten season at 7:45 p. m. These services will run for six weeks, each Wednesday evening. We would like to see you there.

Thursday March 7, Brotherhood meeting at 8 p. m. in church basement.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

W. J. Geffert, Pastor
Sunday School 9:00 a. m.

English service on first, third and fifth Sunday at 10:00 a. m. German service on 2nd and 4th Sunday at 10 a. m.

Lutheran Lenten services over Station WAAF, beginning March 6 and ending April 17, Wednesdays, from 2 to 2:30 p. m. The sermons on these broadcasts will be preached by Missouri Synod Lutheran pastors.

Dr. W. A. Maier, professor of theology at the Lutheran seminary in St. Louis, Mo., can be heard every Sunday over stations WLW, Cincinnati and WXYZ, Detroit, at 12 o'clock. The Detroit Bach chorus furnishes the choral setting. Listeners who heard Dr. Maier some four years ago over the Columbia chain will be glad to hear him again.

MOKENA

A male quartet has just been organized at St. John church with the following personnel: Leon Tonn, Fr.
Hirsch, Jr., Lawrence Kohl and Rev.
Theo. Haeefe.

A daughter was born in a Chicago hospital Jan. 26, to Mr. and Mrs.
Norbert McGinnis, and who has been named Patricia. Mrs. McGinnis was formerly Miss Gertrude Nielsen of Mokena.

Economy Meat Co.

13039 So. WESTERN AVE. B. I. 1209

FORMERLY CLIFFORD & FISHER

Free Parking Space Next Door

Pot Roast

Best Cuts
14c LB.

Holland Roll Butter

34 1/2c LB.

Leg of Veal

16 1/2c

4 lb. pkg. PURE LARD

4 LB. LIMIT WITH THIS. ADV.
12 1/2c LB.

Cleaners by Trade. Not by Name

Will County Cleaners and Dyers

Office and Plant 300 Walnut Street,
JOLIET, ILLINOIS

All Forms of Dry Cleaning Expertly Done. Rugs,
Drapes, Curtains, etc. At Fair Prices. All Work
Called For and Delivered. Modern Plant. In Business 30 years.

HUGH SMITH

319 Canal Street, LEMONT, ILLINOIS
Phone 222

Phone WILLOW SPRINGS 102

ORLAND REPRESENTATIVE

Mrs. J. F. Schmadeke

TELEPHONE ORLAND 108